Mosquito 'Emergency' Aerial Spraying Set

County Board OKs Action; Underwood Says Permanent Program Still Needed

By Nancy Ray

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday proclaimed a "state of emergency" caused by mosquito infestation and verbally agreed to hire a local flying service to spray the salt marshes to the north and west of Lincoln.

An all-day session of meetings and investigation resulted in an issuance of the emergency proclamation which stated that the county would take all legal steps to meet the probems as soon as possibe.

Bill Kite, owner of the Arrow Airport, was authorized to proceed with spraying plans in the mosquito-infested area which will be defined after a flying inspection trip Wednesday morning and a conference with Les Sanger, sanitation chief of the city-county health department.

Lincoln Air Force Base officials, City-County Health Department representatives and the commissioners first discussed the advisability of bringing in an Air Force team from Langely Air Force Base, Va., to spray the breeding area and grasslands.

After conferences with County Atty. Elmer Scheele, the commissioners settled on the resolution which declared the mosquito infestation a condition of emergency and joined with the other agencies in taking steps to control it.

The spraying project, which will begin as soon as the wind and weather permit, should cost "at a maximum, $4,000," according to Board Chairman Rollin Bailey.

Kite made plans to use a section of county road as a landing strip in order to avoid hauling the spray over populated areas and the State Fairgrounds.

The area to be covered will be the marshy land on both sides of West O and northeast to the West Lincoln area and north in lowlands to the south and east of the Lincoln Air Force base.

Spraying will be done by low-flying planes equipped with sprayers containing a DDT solution in oil or water emulsion. The mixture is harmless to plants and animals, health authorities assured the group.

Dr. George Underwood, director of the health department, pointed out that the one-shot spraying was only an emergency measure and that plans should be made for permanent abatement of the mosquito problem which would mean draining of the swampy lands.

Base Commander Col. William H. Working, and health officials from the city-county, state and SAC health offices met early Tuesday be-

KENNEDY URGES—

'New Goals For Nation'

Seattle, Wash. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy said Tuesday the next president of the United States must come up with a new set of goals if this nation is to rank first in defense.

Kennedy, who is striving mightily to be that next President, brought his Democratic campaign to the West with this theme: That only by being strong can the United States bargain with the Russians for peace.

"It is an unfortunate fact," Kennedy said in his prepared speech, "that we can prepare for peace only by preparing for war."

Kennedy's view of how this is to be accomplished:

"That requires only one kind of defense policy—a policy summed up in one word—first.

"I do not mean first if.

"I do not mean first but.

"I mean first in military power across the land and first in diplomacy, prestige, science, education and economic strength."

Special Weight

This Kennedy maintained, puts a special weight on the man who will succeed Dwight D Eisenhower.

"The next president of the United States," Kennedy said, "whether he is a Democrat or a Republican, and whether he likes it or not, must be prepared to submit to the new Congress a whole net set of defense goals.

"It will require a re-evaluation of our committments around the world—a re-evaluation of our base system, a re-evaluation of our weapons and strategy and a re-evaluation of our budgetary policies."

Only Demo

And Kennedy stressed what he has claimed again and again, that only a Democratic president can fit in properly in this changing world.

"We are moving into a new era," he said, "and the old concepts will not do. The old plan of organization will not do. And I believe the Democratic party is prepared to offer the new leadership and the new ideas our nation will need."

Kennedy said everyone wants to see the arms race ended.

"Peace is our deepest aspiration," he said. "And when peace comes, we will gladly convert, not our swords into plowshares, but our bombs into reactors and our missiles into space vehicles."

Pursue

"'Pursue peace," the Bible tells us—and we shall pursue it with every effort and energy we possess."

Kennedy insisted only strength can sway Russia's Nikita Khrushchev.

"We cannot do that by arguing with him—and we can't do that by smiling at him," Kennedy said.

"The only way we can get his agreement to disarmament is by our strength or armament—enough to stop the next war before it starts."

It was another busy day for Kennedy.

Imaginative

At Spokane, he put out a statement in which he called for "a fresh and imaginative program to meet the problems of our nation's wheat farms."

Kennedy said this means getting rid of the surpluses by feeding the hungry at home and abroad—and then cutting production, through both bushel and acreage controls. Kennedy gave no details on how he expects to accomplish this.

On his arrival in Spokane Kennedy said the time had come to eliminate wheat surpluses.

He said that if he is elected he will propose "a fresh and imaginative program" to this end.

The Democratic nominee plugged in a Spokane speech for "an expanded food for peace program to halt famine and malnutrition abroad and an increased food surplus distribution program for the hungry here at home."

Hurricane Fatal To 102 Puerto Ricans

San Juan, Puerto Rico (AP)—Raging flood waters and high tides of Hurricane Donna left at least 102 persons dead in Puerto Rico Tuesday night.

The office of civil defense said another 200 persons are missing and up to 600 have been injured.

Whether the hurricane packing winds of 125 m.p.h. and deluges of water, would hit the U.S. mainland remained in doubt. But because a westerly shift in the storm's course was considered possible, interests in the Bahamas and Southeastern United States were urged to keep in touch with all hurricane advisories during the next several days.

Humacao, hardest hit of the Puerto Rican areas, reported 86 bodies recovered. They were brought into a makeshift morgue in an abandoned police station.

Typhoid Feared

Pales Matos, a civil defense spokesman, said precautions were being taken against an outbreak of typhoid.

Some 4,000 persons were affected by floods in the Carolina area, Matos said. Helicopters were taking people off rooftops.

An advisory from the U.S. Weather Bureau placed the hurricane about 95 miles east northeast of Turks Island in the Bahamas. This would put it about 700 miles east southeast of Miami, Fla.

The Weather Bureau said Donna is moving west northwestward at 9 mph.

Capital Hit

Three deaths were reported in Port Au Prince, capital of Haiti. The big storm took at least 7 lives Monday in the Leeward Islands. Five of these victims were killed on Anguilla, the other two on Antigua Island.

Damage is expected to run into millions of dollars said civil defense and Red Cross officials.

The hurricane slashed its way east of Puerto Rico Monday through the Leeward Islands, but drenched Puerto Rico with 11-inch rains. The islands of Barbuda in the Leewards was severely hit. Medicine, food, clothing and blankets were flown in from Jamaica.

River Roars

Hardest hit in Puerto Rico was the area around Humacao, a town of 11,000 on the southeast shore. Augustin Caban, Red Cross administrator there, said 44 bodies were recovered from the surging waters of the Humacao river and its tributaries.

The Humacao, normally a quiet stream, is now "churning like Niagara," a civil defense rescuer said.

Many beach residents who fled to high ground before the storm apparently returned afterward, despite the warning of possible floods.

A Red Cross spokesman said many deaths could have been avoided had the beach dwellers stayed on the safety of high ground.

"We don't even dare estimate the final death toll," said a civil defense spokesman as the grim picture of devastation took shape.

7 STEERS CAPTURE PURPLES AT FAIR

33,000 Attend Events

Prospects Fair For New Record

By Del Harding

Seven 4-H beef steers won purple ribbons for their proud teen-age owners Tuesday as an estimated 33,000 persons turned out in the heat and dust to attend the State Fair.

The 7 purple ribbon winners were chosen from 23 purple ribbon candidates which had been selected from a field of 260 beef steers by Judge Ed Hauser of the University of Wisconsin.

The 4-day fair attendance total now stands at 234,000 compared with 229,000 last year. Last year's Tuesday crowd was 32,000.

An average of about 32,000 persons would have to attend the fair Wednesday through Friday to break the all-time fair attendance record of 328,000 set in 1958. Prospects for a new record appear only fair.

No Doubles

There were no double purple ribbon winners in the beef steer competition. The top 7 were:

Carolyn Peterson, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Peterson of Holdrege, with an Angus named "Black Cap."

Bernie Phifer, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Phifer of Mason City, with a Hereford named "Flash."

James Broberg, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Welton Broberg of Loomis, with a Hereford named "Burples."

Donna Lavicky, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lavicky of Seward, with a Shorthorn named "Just A Dore A Bull."

Roger Semler, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Semler of Dorchester, with a Herefordford named "Curley."

Jim Gunther, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gunther of Broken Bow, with a Shorthorn named "Casper."

Morrill County Judge Jailed For Contempt

Bridgeport (AP)—Morrill County Judge Robert McFarland went to jail Tuesday for contempt of the District Court after refusing to answer questions in a case involving Bridgeport Attorney Paul Rhodes.

The case is one in which Rhodes is charged with having aided and abetted Judge McFarland in a previous District Court contempt charge that grew out of legal maneuvering in an original arson charge against Rhodes in a Bridgeport drug store fire.

In the original contempt case, Judge McFarland was fined and sentenced to a jail term. He appealed to the Supreme Court.

When the aiding and abetting case against Rhodes came up Tuesday, McFarland refused to answer many questions because, he said, of his appeal to the Supreme Court.

He was then sentenced to 60 days in jail, or until he agreed to answer questions, and fined $100 by Judge R. M. Van Steenberg.

Later the Morrill County Board of Commissioners named Dorothy Riddle as acting county judge. She is clerk of the county court.

Before the District Court hearing began, McFarland issued warrants for the arrest of Morrill County Attorney James Mackin, Sheriff Norvil Houston and Special assistant State Attorney General Rush Clarke for having arrested Rhodes after McFarland had released the attorney on a habeas corpus writ during the earlier legal manuevering.

The warrants were served and the defendants asked the district court for a hearing on a writ of prohibition—to prevent McFarland from acting. Hearing was set for Sept. 19.

Gunfire Breaks Up Anti-Lumumba Mob

Leopoldville, The Congo (AP)—Congolese troops firing rifles and clubbing with gun butts Tuesday night broke up a demonstration of supporters of Congo President Joseph Kasavubu against Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Gunfire in the capital's streets and confused fighting lasted for an hour.

Each of the two leaders has ordered the other deposed from office.

Kasavubu as chief of state has staked his future on the newly rising authority of the United Nations to bring order out of chaos in the Congo.

Speeches

Lumumba is relying on help of technicians, troop transport vehicles, planes and other equipment from behind the Iron Curtain and his own spell-binding speeches to his Congolese followers.

Lumumba now has been silenced by the United Nations forces' seizure of the government radio to prevent incitement to violence.

(This dispatch was sent through a newly established censorship at 6:45 p.m., Leopoldville time. The South African radio said several hours later that Congo communications were cut off for Tuesday night after the evening fighting.)

The U.N. troops tightened security by sealing off airport traffic in addition to silencing radio Leopoldville. The object was to prevent the worsening governmental feud from exploding into a full-scale civil war.

Lumumba, who spent Monday night in a lightly attended cabinet session, fired off a letter to U.N. officials Tuesday demanding an explanation for the U.N. action. Some observers took the fact that only 10 of the 23 ministers in Lumumba's cabinet attended the extraordinary session to mean that Kasavubu had considerable support within that body.

Lumumba called for an emergency session of parliament to seek a vote of confidence, but whether he had enough support to get a mandate for his leftist slide toward the Soviet bloc remained in question.

Both Lumumba and Kasavubu looked to parliament for support of their action.

Developments followed fast on Kasavubu's unexpected action Monday night in announcing over Radio Leopoldville that he was deposing Lumumba from his office of premier.

Congo Law

Kasavubu based the action on a Congo law that provides the chief of state names and revokes the premier and ministers.

Kasavubu as president of the Congo is chief of state. Lumumba, as premier, is the head of government.

Lumumba supporters challenged the action and contested the validity of the law. A Constitution drawn up for the former Belgian colony still hasn't been ratified by parliament.

Gov. Brooks Shows Slight Improvement

Gov. Ralph Brooks' physician reported Tuesday that while the governor's condition remains "basically the same," he has noticed a "slight improvement in some of the tests."

The 62-year-old chief executive is still on the "serious" list at Lincoln General Hospital where he was entered two weeks ago for treatment of a virus infection which initiated a weakened condition in the heart muscle.

Robert Conrad, administrative assistant to the governor, who relayed the physician's report Tuesday, said Brooks still has had no conversations with anyone concerning his candidacy for the U. S. Senate.

Friday is the deadline for a candidate in the general election to withdraw his name from the ballot. Should the governor decide to withdraw, the Democratic State Central Committee would appoint a replacement.

Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney was in Lincoln Tuesday—not because of the governor's illness, but to attend the Nebraska State Fair.

West Lincoln Vote Set On Liquor By Drink

West Lincoln voters will get to decide whether they want liquor by the drink.

The West Lincoln Village Board Tuesday night voted to send the controversial question to the ballot box, probably at an October 11 special election.

West Lincoln Mayor Clifford Anderson told The Star a petition with some 60 signatures was presented to the board favoring liquor by the drink and:

"There were enough signatures to warrant a special election. We believe the voters will want it (liquor by the drink)."

Anderson said the board is presently conferring with its attorney on legal aspects involved and setting up machinery for the special vote.

In the past, West Lincoln officials have feared "retaliation" by the City of Lincoln if they approved liquor by the drink licenses.

Other village boards have expressed fear that Lincoln would take away fire protection, among other things, if liquor by the drink were approved.

U.S. DEFENSE DEPARTMENT SAYS:

One Turncoat Mentally Sick And Both Confused

Pair Branded Tools Of Red Propaganda

Washington (AP) — Two defecting American code clerks—branded by President Eisenhower as "self-confessed traitors" — have become turncoat tools of Soviet propaganda, the Defense Department said Tuesday night. It said one was mentally sick and both obviously confused.

Earlier, Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., of the House Committee on Un-American Activities Committee said he understands the FBI warned the hush-hush National Security Agency—before Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin were hired in 1957—that one of them was a homosexual.

The Pentagon didn't say which of the two it referred to as mentally ill. Walter said he could not identify which one he meant.

Asked about Walter's allegation, a Defense Department spokesman said the Pentagon stood on its statement of last Friday—that "the FBI files contained no derogatory information" about the two men in connection with their NSA employment.

Violent Reaction

Mitchell and Martin triggered a violent U.S. reaction when they appeared at a propaganda-flavored news conference in Moscow and accused the United States of following espionage policies that threatened world peace.

In its formal statement Tuesday night, the Pentagon said:

"The Soviets are now making every effort to exploit the two turncoats, Martin and Mitchell, who have become tools of Soviet propaganda and to make the world believe the false statements which they have made in Moscow."

"Both the letters from which they read and statements made in Moscow about the U.S. government are directed at serving Communist purposes and are typically false. Their appearance in Moscow is final confirmation that these two young men—one mentally sick and both obviously confused — have sacrificed everything Americans and other free men hold dear."

Pentagon Has Letter

In releasing the statement, a Defense Department spokesman acknowledged the Pentagon had had since early August a letter Mitchell and Martin said they left in a safe deposit box in the State Bank of Laurel, Md., before leaving the country. The spokesman said it was seized under court order.

The defectors read copies of that letter at the Moscow news conference. It gave their reasons for abandoning their country — because, they said, the United States is carrying out policies dangerous to world peace, among other things.

Beauties Try Husker Beef At Pageant

Atlantic City, N.J. (AP)—The girls competing in the Miss America pageant got a taste of Nebraska beef.

They were treated to a steak dinner by Miss Nebraska, blonde, blue-eyed Cheryl Ann Jaeke of Shelton, Neb., at a local restaurant.

The restaurant was the only thing local about the dinner, which boasted steaks straight from Nebraska's cattle country.

It has become a custom in past years for each of the girls participating in the pageant to present each of the other girls with some present from her home state.

The thick steaks were Cheryl's present. They were donated by the "Cowbells of Nebraska", an organization of women connected with stockyard, ranchers and cattle feeders.

Garbed In Gowns

All of the 54 girls, representing every state, Canada and the cities of New York, Chicago and Washington, attended the dinner in evening gowns.

The 18-year old hostess wore a yellow nylon organza strapless gown with tiers of ruffles ending in a petal effect and a light brown mink stole.

Cheryl, who plans a major in psychology when she enters the University of Nebraska as a sophomore this fall, is getting expert guidance in her bid for the crown.

The chaperon who accompanied her here is Mrs. Forrest A. Ritchie, mother of Sharon K. Ritchie, Miss America, 1956.

Ex-Code Clerks Say U.S. Spies On Allies

Moscow (AP) — Two code clerks missing from secret jobs in a U.S. agency turned up in Moscow Tuesday with a declaration that the United States spies even on its own allies.

The men, Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, and William H. Martin, 29, expressed belief that U.S. intelligence policies will lead to World War III.

They appeared at a Soviet-staged news conference less than two weeks after the trial of Francis Gary Powers and just two weeks before Nikita S. Khrushchev in a personal appearance before the United Nations is expect-pected to seek U.N. action against the United States for what the Soviet Union calls aggressive policies.

The code clerks' appearance fits in with the current "distrust America" campaign being waged in Communist countries.

Turkey Named

One of the reasons they left their jobs with the National Security Agency in the United States, they said, was disgust at finding the organization had paid a code clerk in the embassy of a friendly country for information about that country's codes. In answer to a question, they identified the country as Turkey, one of the United States' staunchest allies and the object of assiduous wooing by the Soviet Union.

They sat at a green baize table under the glare of television lights and gave a detailed version of how the National Security Agency works—much of it information seemingly intended to sow distrust of American acts and policies among U.S. allies.

They said they want to become Soviet citizens. The Soviet government said it is willing.

Other Complaints

Mitchell and Martin also:

Complained about American reconnaissance flights over Russia and Red China since 1952.

Said they planned their defection more than a year ago.

Contended atheists are persecuted and persons with unpopular views harassed in the United States.

Refused to say how they got here, since this "might prevent others from taking the same route." (They are known to have traveled via Mexico and Cuba, and are said by U.S. officials to have left Cuba on a Soviet fishing boat.

Mitchell and Martin are bachelors and were friends in the U.S. Navy. In 1957 they joined the National Security Agency (NSA) as code clerks at Fort Meade, Md.

Emergency Mosquito Spraying Set

LAFB officials said all breeding ground for mosquitos has been eliminated on the base, but the breeding occurs in the Capitol Beach area over which there is no control at the present time.

Base officials said fog-spraying equipment to eliminate the adult mosquito from coming onto the base from marshy areas is being operated at least 8 hours a day.

Base officials have advised both the City Council and the County Board regarding the mosquito problem as it affects the Strategic Air Command base.

Public attention on the mosquito problem was brought to focus by the hospitalization of 8-month-old Karen Kempston of 915 West Q (near Capitol Beach) with a toxic condition from numerous mosquito bites.

Subsequently, the child's mother, Mrs. Clifford Kempston, pushed a neighborhood petition seeking governmental action to end the mosquito problem as a health hazard.

The Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce has called a city-wide public forum for next Tuesday, 8 p.m., to discuss the problem and determine its limits.

City, county and state health officials, LAFB officials, and other city representatives have been invited to attend.

West Lincoln Sprays Its Mosquitoes

West Lincoln has begun to attack its mosquito malady.

Anderson said the town intends to spray again Thursday night.

Reporter Indicted

Bessemer, Ala. (AP) — A grand jury Tuesday indicted Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times on 42 counts of criminal libel growing out of articles published about race relations in the Birmingham-Bessemer area.

Deputy Circuit Solicitor Howard H. Sullinger said each of the counts resulted from a series of stories in the Times last April.

The articles, carrying Salisbury's byline, dealt with racial conflict in the area.

Health Board Supports Swift Mosquito Action

By Roger Wait

The City-County Health Board Tuesday night unanimously endorsed the Lancaster County Commissioners' proclamation of a state of emergency due to the mosquito menace.

The action gave the needed green light from local health authorities to the county board's emergency resolution.

Health board members declared their support was needed before the commissioners, who determined an emergency exists, could go ahead with aerial mosquito spraying operations.

Dr. George A. Underwood, health director, told the board that Lincoln Air Force Base officials "are about ready to do something."

Mosquitoes have hampered the base's aerial combat capabilities, according to base officials.

The board-endorsed resolution called attention to the public health hazard — past, present and future — created by unusually large numbers of mosquitoes.

The Cuase

It noted that unusual amounts of rainfall, area construction projects and "other unusual conditions" have caused an expansion of mosquito-breeding grounds and a sharp increase in the insect's numbers.

To alleviate the emergency, the board resolved to exercise all the powers vested in it by law.

Board member Kenneth Bourne, also a county board member, said he and commissioners Rollin Bailey and Ralph Harlan had flown over the invested area.

The Capitol Beach area is the worst of the breeding grounds, he said. Green scum covers the Salt Lake marshes, he added.

Dr. Underwood declared that the overall consideration is to alleviate a public health menace.

As for aerial spraying, Bourne observed: "I think it'll do some good."

In July, the health department spent $42.50 for "Tossits" capsules to throw in storm sewers where mosquitoes breed in stagnant water.

Mrs. Harpster Dies At Age 47

Mrs. Mary Rita Harpster, 47, of 2535 So. 35th, was pronounced dead on arrival Tuesday at a Lincoln hospital of an apparently self-inflicted shotgun wound, Deputy Sheriff Del Zieman, acting coroner, said.

A physician at the hospital said the housewife's wound was located just below the heart.

Zieman said it was reported the woman had been in ill health for some time.

Mrs. Harpster was born in Nebraska City and had lived in Lincoln 3½ years. She was a member of the Tabernacle Christian Church.

Survivors include her husband, Bernard; a daughter, Karen at home, and a son, Gary of Lincoln.

7 Steers Win Top Awards

There were no repeat winners from 1959 when 10 steers were awarded purple ribbons.

Missing from the purple ribbon steer list for the first time in 5 years was Susan Aegerter, 17, of Seward. She had won 6 purple ribbons from 1956 to 1959 with her steers.

The 7 top steers will join 11 purple ribbon market heifers selected Monday to head the annual 4-H baby beef sale which will be held Thursday afternoon.

The 4-H beef showmanship contest was won by Bill Brown, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tilson Brown of Oxford.

Sheep, Swine Sale

Highlighting Wednesday's 4-H program will be the annual sheep and swine sale. Eighty-six head of sheep and 50 swine will go on the auction block starting at 2:30 p.m.

"Although the total numbers are down, the quality of both sheep and swine is up," reports Ted Doane and Leo Lucas, assistant superintendents in charge of the 4-H sheep and swine divisions, respectively.

The "All Star Variety Show" featuring Zippie the TV Chimp and other acts is again the afternoon Grandstand attraction.

Singer Pat Boone presents his first appearance at 7:45 p.m. in front of the Grandstand. His show, which also features vocalist Anita Bryant is the Thursday night attraction.

Dress Revue

The 4-H dress revue is scheduled for 3 p.m. at the 4-H Bldg.

Open Class competition Tuesday was highlighted by the Hereford Show. Hudspeth Land and Cattle Co. of Raineville, Ore., showed the grand champion bull and Jack Turner and Sons of Fort Worth, Tex., had the grand champion female.

The Kearney Boys Training School showed the junior and grand champion bull and Phillips Bros. of Beaver Crossing had the senior and grand champion female in the Holstein division.

Rudolf Griese of Aurora showed the senior and grand champion Milking Shorthorn bull and George B. Harms of Hooper had the senior and grand champion female.

W. S. Watson of Hutchinson, Kan., swept Ayrshire honors by showing both the senior and grand champion bull and female.

Actor Tab Hunter Faces Jury Trial

Glendale, Calif. (UPI) — Actor Tab Hunter Tuesday was ordered to face a jury trial Oct. 5 when he pleaded innocent in municipal court to a charge of mistreating his pet dog.

The plea was entered by the absent actor's attorney, Henry Melby.

Neighbors complained Hunter failed to properly care for his dog, Fritz, and a misdemeanor complaint was filed by the city attorney's office.

Heat Wave To Continue

McCook and Imperial, with highs of 99, led the heat parade in the state as most towns reported temperatures in the 90s Tuesday.

The Weather Bureau predicts little change in temperature Wednesday. Only the Panhandle is expected to escape the heat with temperatures of 75 to 85.

Other highs are expected to be in the mid and upper 90s.

Southerly winds of 15 to 25 mph are forecast for most of the state Wednesday afternoon.

Lincoln had a high of 95 and a low of 73 Tuesday.

Lincolnite 'Good' Following Missile Site Accident

Crete—Hospital authorities here late Tuesday listed as "good" the condition of Howard Neiswanger, about 40, of 5165 Holdrege, Lincoln.

A worker at the missile site under construction 6 miles west of Wilber, Neiswanger was injured earlier Tuesday when struck by a piece of pipe while at the bottom of the 175-foot hole, according to the Army Engineers.

Neiswanger reportedly suffered a broken collar bone, cuts on the forehead and a possible neck injury.

He was wearing a welding mask and a so-called "hard hat" at the time of the accident.

Boy, 8, Injured In Car-Bike Accident

Police said Allen Darr, 8, of 5158 Starr, was treated and released by Bryan Memorial Hospital after he was hurt in a car-bicycle collision Tuesday at 49th and Holdrege.

The boy was riding west on the south side of Holdrege and turned north at 49th, police said, when his bicycle struck a car turning left to go east on Holdrege from 49th. It was driven by Mrs. Carl Gustafson, 40, of 5027 Starr.

Dry, Hot Days Help Corn Mature

...Sorghum Good In East

Nebraska's corn is maturing a bit later than usual but continued dry weather will help it to catch up, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

Dry, hot weather last week hastened the maturing of both corn and sorghum, and by the weekend, 37% of the corn had dented, compared with 56% at this time last year, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Sorghum has deteriorated sharply in the southeast and this condition extends into some central and southern counties, the division's weekly crop report noted. Some sorghum acreage intended for grain has been cut for forage and silage.

In the eastern third of the state, however, prospects for good yields continue.

About 9% of the new winter wheat crop had been seeded by last weekend, but most of the seed will not germinate until some rain is received. About 23% of the rye crop, and about 46% of fall planted legumes also had been seeded.

Where good moisture supplies are available, the newly seeded crops are up and showing good stands.

Dry, hot weather has curtailed crop prospects in the upper Platte Valley, the report said. The dry bean harvest is well under way with yields from early cut fields running higher than from the later fields. Irrigation water is short in the valley and could cut back the yield of potatoes and corn.

Pastures and ranges in the west continue to suffer from the dry weather and some ranchers already are feeding hay.

Movement of stocker and feeder cattle accelerated slightly last week. Livestock continues in good condition although flies are bothering.

Accumulated precipitation this growing season by districts since April 1 as compared to longtime averages includes:

Northwest—9.48 inches (1960); 11.35 inches (average).
North Central—15.03; 13.56.
Northeast—20.55; 16.03.
Central—16.61; 14.64.
East Central—21.75; 16.94.
Southwest—9.37; [illegible]
South Central—17.71; 15.02.
Southeast—22.75; 18.50.

Farm Price Index Declines Due To Cattle, Feed Grains

Lower prices for cattle, calves, and most feed grains are dropping the Nebraska all farm commodity index for the month ending Aug. 15, government statisticians said Tuesday.

At mid-August the index stood at 248, down 5 points from mid-July and off 8 points from a year earlier, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said.

The all crops index at 181 was one point under last month and 5 points below last year.

The all livestock and livestock products index of 274 dropped 7 points from a month earlier and has declined 9 points from Aug. 15, 1959.

Hog Mark Same

Nebraska farmers received an average of $16.40 per hundredweight for hogs, the same as the previous month but $2.60 higher than a year ago.

Cattle at $21.30 declined 90 cents from July and $3.50 below August of last year. The average price was the lowest since Nov. 15, 1957.

Calf prices dropped 30 cents from a month earlier and $6.40 from the previous year in averaging $22.50, the lowest since September of 1957.

Sheep prices dropped 70 cents to reach $3.80 per hundred pounds, which was the lowest average price since June of 1956.

Lambs averaged $18.70, off 30 cents from mid-July.

Milk cows at $195 per head were off $5 from July and $15 from last year.

Butterfat and retail milk were unchanged from July at 59 cents per pound and 21 cents per quart respectively.

Egg Prices Down

Chickens at 9.5 cents per pound and eggs at 23.8 cents per dozen were both down slightly from July.

At mid-August wheat averaged $1.64 per bushel; corn, $1.02; oats, 56 cents; rye, 79 cents; barley, 67 cents; and soybeans $1.85. Grain sorghum averaged $1.37 per 100 pounds and potatoes $1.90. Dry edible beans were steady at $5.90 per 100 pounds.

The $13.90 per ton average for all baled hay was $1 higher than last month.

Lincoln Girl Better After Jaw Surgery

Deboray Hovey, 9-year-old Lincolnite who was struck Sunday by a motor boat at the Fremont Lakes, was reportedly "doing fine" Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Hospital authorities said the girl was "better" but still listed as fair.

Deborah is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hovey.

The girl underwent 5 hours of surgery after a chunk was torn from her jaw by the boat which apparently passed over her body while she was playing in the water.

Deborah also suffered cuts and bruises on her arm and neck.

Her father said doctors have told him the jaw "may heal, or it may not."

If it doesn't, "they may have to go in there (to surgery) again. Her jaws are wired together," Hovey said.

"It may be at least 5 or 6 weeks before she'll be able to even talk again."

Deborah was struck by a boat piloted by Louie Bonacci, 22, of Omaha.

Dodge County Attorney Richard Kuhlman said that Bonacci was charged with negligent operation of a motor boat and released on $300 bond.

Repair Favored For Damaged Courthouse

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice—Visions of a new Gage County courthouse have disappeared with the county board's 5 to 2 decision to repair the old fire-swept structure.

With little dissension, the supervisors quickly decided on this proposal from two others offered by a 17-member citizen committee.

Eleven of the committee members voted for repairing the old building following a 3-month study. Five favored replacing the building.

When both possibilities were presented to the board, the plan for extensive remodeling was rejected as "costing too much for the results retained."

After voters vetoed by 2 to 1 the original recommendation for a new courthouse, the committee backed up a tentative agreement reached by the board to repair the 68-year-old building heavily damaged by fire last January.

Chairman Stanley Woita reported that his committee found repairing the courthouse, with limited improvements, would cost approximately $276,316.

Diaper Brigade Hopping At Fair

By Gene Budig

Not everybody at the State Fair is roaming the midway pelting milk bottles with baseballs.

There are a few devoted souls warming them (baby bottles, that is).

This year, thanks to the fair board, a special baby sitting bureau has been set up in the women's building.

The wet diaper brigade is complete with 13 cribs, a playground and 5 patience-endowed women.

"Business is good," Frances Peterson, bureau chief, reported. "Almost too good."

Carloads of Kids

The St. Edward (Neb.) woman, starting to show the strain of a week of kitcheny-kitchy-cooing, said that it would be impossible to estimate the number of playground patrons.

"We've been tagging about 40 babies under 3 years of age a day in the nursery," she said.

There is no charge for the baby-sitting services for the first two hours and "a small fee" thereafter.

The chores of the parental pinch-hitters don't stop in just wiping running noses. They also wash and heat milk bottles as well as change diapers.

They've also been known to recite a couple (thousand) verses of Little Bo Peep.

Mrs. Hawkins Dies; Was Once NU Housemother

Mrs. Margaret E. Hawkins, 67, of 5003 Leighton, died Tuesday.

She was a retired housemother of the Ellen Smith Hall on the University of Nebraska Campus, having served at the University between 1932 and 1958.

Mrs. Hawkins' son, Dawson (Dawdy), of Pekin, Ill., is a former coach at Lincoln Northeast High School.

She was a member of Vine Congregational Church and the Order of Eastern Star, Red Oak, Iowa.

In addition to her son, Dawson, she is survived by her husband, Russell, 3 grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

GOP Fair Center Has 25,000 Guests

More than 25,000 Nebraskans have visited the Republican Center at the State Fair, GOP State Chairman Charles Thone reported Tuesday.

The center is the largest ever set up by a political party at the fair, Thone noted.

Sen. Carl Curtis, gubernatorial nominee John Cooper, Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, Secretary of State Frank Marsh, 3rd District congressional nominee Ralph Beermann and attorney general nominee Clarence Meyer have greeted visitors.

He was with SAC headquarters when it moved from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., in December, 1948. He was assigned to USAF in April, 1957.

Backing Auto Kills Worker

Broadwater (AP) — Charles S. Jackson, 50, of McGrew was killed when hit by a car at the home of Charles Ewing whose garage Jackson was repairing.

Morrill County Attorney James L. Mackin said he learned that Ewing, an elderly man, backed up his car to get it out of Jackson's way, and, after having stopped the car, decided it wasn't backed far enough away and started up again, this time striking Jackson.

Tanning Industry Eyed By Ag Research Group

...Hides Now Shipped To Eastern Seaboard

The prospect of bringing a leather-working industry into Nebraska is being considered by the Agricultural Products Research Fund Committee, Pearle F. Finigan, state director of agriculture, reported Tuesday.

Finigan said Nebraska's packing plants now ship their hides to the eastern seaboard for processing, and in many cases they are then shipped back to the Midwest for use in shoes and other leather goods.

The acquisition of a tanning industry would help the hide producer by eliminating wasteful freight costs, and would also provide increased employment for Nebraska workers, he said.

Seek More Info

The committee has made no decision pending receipt of more information.

As for vegetable research, for which state funds were recently requested by a number of Nebraska chambers of commerce, Finigan said it would be illegal to use funds from LB722 of the 1959 legislature, which limits the use only to new uses for agricultural products.

However, "It is certain that before the next legislative session it will be possible to outline a program which would be designed to bring new sources of cash income to the farmer while creating employment at the processing plants in the towns," Finigan said.

"This department is wholeheartedly sympathetic with these objectives, and will give attention to any proposal presented to it which recognizes the limitations of the present enabling legislation."

Finigan added that the committee has approved a research project, submitted by the University of Nebraska, on gluten, air classification and baking properties of high protein lines of winter wheat developed in Nebraska.

Another was turned down. It was one by the Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City, Mo., to investigate uses of hard red winter wheat in macaroni flour.

Rambler Policy Statement Made At Press Preview...

What Next In The Great Compact Car Revolution?

GEORGE ROMNEY
President of American Motors Corporation

MUKWONAGO, Wisconsin—August 17, 1960—Many of the people I talk to do not gather the full significance of the compact car revolution, even our shrewd and esteemed competitors. They claim their compacts were brought out in response to the imports—even though their imitation was of Rambler—not of any foreign make. Their additional 1961 Rambler-type entries will completely disprove their assertions.

The compact revolution runs deep—in product and merchandising, in benefit to customers and the economy, and, perhaps most important, in our national psychology.

The compact revolution has provided better and more useful products—brought billions in savings to the consumer. The horsepower race ceased, economy was stressed in engines and axles, growth in car size was arrested.

Rambler's pioneering of Single-Unit or unitized construction has been widely followed, because this is the modern way to build cars—stronger, safer, more durable.

Owners have cars that are easier to handle, easier to park.

More competition and greater customer choice have given the buyer a new influence. The accent has shifted from frills to function and beneficial change—quality, functionalism and durability will be the watchwords of the industry in the 1960's.

We are now down this highway ahead of the pack, and we're committed to every effort to stay there.

To such advantages as the attitude and craftsmanship of our employees, the compact concept, Single-Unit construction, the anti-corrosion body-dip, we are adding the Ceramic-Armored muffler and tail-pipe and other contributions to basic excellence.

The new car designs are saving materials and resources and relieving problems related to the car. Traffic engineers, road builders, and others can devote more time to catching up with basic traffic needs and less time trying to keep up with growth in car size and power. Greater usefulness to the user will result in long-range stimulation of the total automobile market, encourage increased multiple car ownership, more personal car usage.

Beyond all this there is a factor of basic importance.

The excesses of the automobile industry, perhaps the world's leading example of the working of a free economy, seriously weakened confidence in our system, not only in the eyes of our own people but in the eyes of a world torn between conflicting ideas.

The most important and most conspicuous product of our economy grew in almost unbelievable waste and ostentation, at a time when intensely serious unmet problems were being discussed with deep and widespread concern. How could this help but cast doubt on the validity of our approach?

I wonder how many Americans, driving to work in a tail-finned dinosaur, felt a wave of embarrassment, listening to the car radio news of the defeat of a school bond issue?

The conspicuous car was a symbol, a symptom, an advertisement of our excesses—of our self-indulgence when good judgment and even some sacrifices were the crying need.

The compact car has helped alleviate this.

As a nation, we are by no means back on the right track. We are still taking some wrong roads that could spell disaster for the hopes of a free world. But the car industry has made a start. It provides some encouragement that the turnaround toward greater functionalism and durability in our major consumer product means that the national psychology is bending toward reason and realism.

Defining the Compact Car

In the headlong rush to capitalize on the compact trend, the word compact has been stretched to the point of confusion as to just what a compact car is.

One of the most dramatic results was gasoline economy, which led to high identification between the designation "compact" and economy. This tends to limit the concept—it is much broader than that, and includes performance as well as economy.

Originally the inquiry of American Motors' founder, George Mason, into automobile concepts led him first to a study of basic transportation. He said, "Let's not try to miniaturize or shrink the present car, but let's start with the essence of the automobile and work up from there. Let's build on what is basic."

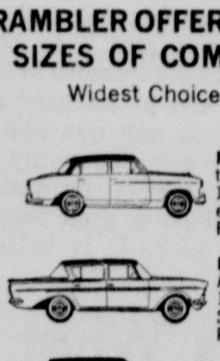
He thought of basic in two ways: on the one hand, the physical minimums, and on the other, the psychological minimums. In the former, you face such facts as the minimum distance between wheel housings that permit full comfort for each passenger, as well as adequate luggage and engine space. After the first studies, the conclusion was that you could not go much below 100 inches in wheelbase and still have the space desired by Americans for five or six passengers, and that you need not go above 117 inches.

It was also essential to consider the psychological basics in the owner's mind. Every way this was looked at suggested balance.

"Basic" and "balance" became key terms in developing the compact concept. They remain so, in our view, today.

However, "basic" and "balance" go beyond mere size. Compact means "a balanced combination of basic automobile values." This includes those proportions of passenger and utility space, riding comfort, handling ease, performance, economy, dependability, durability, attractiveness and safety that produce the optimum product value.

RAMBLER OFFERS 3 DISTINCT SIZES OF COMPACT CARS
Widest Choice of Models



RAMBLER AMERICAN—the Economy Compact Car. 178.3" long. Top quality, top economy 90 or 125 HP Six. Room for a family of six.

RAMBLER 6 and V-8—the All-Round Compact Car. 189.5" long. 127 or 138 HP Six. 200 or 215 HP V-8. Room for six 6-footers.

AMBASSADOR V-8 by RAMBLER—the only Compact Luxury Car. 198.5" long. 250 or 270 HP. High performance—compact size.

This balance can now be achieved in cars ranging between 170 inches and 200 inches in length. Today, in a car designed for general-purpose family use, it is impractical to go below 170 inches because passenger comfort, trunk, and engine space drop below reasonable standards. Above 200 inches you begin to suffer serious losses in economy or performance and handling ease.

This is why we define compact as "a balanced combination of basic automobile values."

American Motors Styling Philosophy

Our attitude toward styling is that beauty is a basic ingredient of product value and is fundamentally related to the purpose of the product.

Our competitors made appearance change for change's sake the primary means of new model identification. Such forced obsolescence worked the greatest depreciation of the car owner's investment, and became one of the most expensive factors in manufacturing cost and product quality.

Our objectives are:

1. Reduction of depreciation and the imperfection that result from capricious change.
2. Lengthening trouble-free operation through building greater life and durability into the car itself.
3. Improving the car's function as a means of transportation.

We intend to follow a policy of styling stability and continuity. We are going to take two related approaches and let buyer response lead us.

In the case of the successful Rambler American, we will offer styling stability. We will not change the appearance of these models annually. Our changes in this car will be governed essentially by two factors: (1) changes that achieve functional or durability improvement, and (2) basic appearance changes that prevent outdating as the result of long-range and fundamental trends in customer taste.

This will protect the owner's investment in the product.

In the case of the Rambler 6 and V-8 (108-inch wheelbase models), we will follow a modified program of styling continuity, staying close to the mainstream of appearance popularity but without abrupt or whimsical change from year to year.

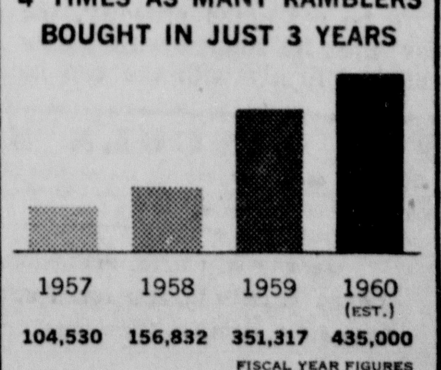
In the case of the Ambassador we will also follow the course of modified styling continuity, but with increasing appearance differentiation between it and the other Ramblers, to enlarge the margin of choice.

Industry Outlook

The compacts are going to continue their assumption of dominance in the market. Before 1961 is out, compacts will be taking half of total new car sales and by the end of 1963, compacts will be taking two out of every three sales.

It is just a question of time before compact cars take over industry leadership. At an early date the top volume makes will be compact cars.

4 TIMES AS MANY RAMBLERS BOUGHT IN JUST 3 YEARS



Our plan of action is to sustain our leadership in modern engineering, to throw the heaviest possible emphasis on functional balance and basic improvement—and dedicate ourselves wholeheartedly to building even greater service-free life in our product. Our purpose is to keep Rambler the symbol of basic, balanced excellence.

Rambler*-THE NEW WORLD STANDARD OF BASIC EXCELLENCE

Complications Of Election

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Any election can be a complicated thing if enough confusing factors are involved, and presidential balloting is no exception. Everyone is familiar with the fact that the people themselves do not directly elect a president of the United States. What the voters actually do in some areas is name a slate of electors who cast their state's preference for president.

Vote By Electoral College

The electors are pledged to parties or run as independents but are not tied to any specific candidate. By precedent, they cast their vote for the candidate receiving the highest support in their state. Some states, such as Nebraska, have their electors named through the machinery of the parties and these electors cast the state's vote for president. They generally do cast the vote according to the popular vote for president and vice president but, technically, they can vote for whomever they please. To be elected president, a candidate must have 269 of the possible 537 electoral votes.

Such a situation would be automatic except for one thing—electors running as independents might not cast their vote for any candidate. Congressional Quarterly carries a discussion of this subject as it involves southern states. The GOP is casting an anxious eye toward the South in the hope that conditions in November will be favorable to Republican victories there.

How well-founded this hope is depends upon whose interpretation of things you care to listen to. Congressional Quarterly is about the most independent source one might find and the tone of its remarks is that while Vice President Nixon may do well in the South, it is unlikely that he would carry many, if any, of those states.

★

Civil rights are a major stumbling block to the Democrats in winning this part of the country but the historic position of the South is a strong Democratic pillar. Also, the South will have to rely upon the Democratic party to retain its key congressional committee assignments. If it failed to support the party in November, it could look for rougher treatment in the House and Senate in January.

Just the same, a number of southern states are considering a different approach in the presidential election. What they are discussing is the possibility of running independent electors who could hold the key to victory for either presidential candidate. Eleven southern states have a total of 128 electoral votes. In a very close election, this could be a sufficient number of electoral votes to control things.

If neither the Republican nor Democratic candidate could gather a majority electoral vote, the election would be thrown into the House of Representatives. Here, each state would be given one vote and the candidate receiving a mere majority would be the next president. With the South again abstaining in the House vote, the results would be 28 votes for the Democratic candidate, 10 for the Republican candidate and 7 tied, as the House is currently divided.

★

Nebraska could well be one of the tied states if our House delegation voted along party lines. Nebraska has two Democrats and two Republicans in the House but it is uncertain what would happen if they had to vote on president. Under such a situation, the vice presidential candidate would be selected by the Senate.

This peculiarity could result in a presidential candidate of one party and a vice president of the other party. Combine this with a Congress of one party and a President of another and you would have a first-class mixup. Of course, what the South will do is still highly speculative and it is unlikely that their electoral votes will end up going anywhere other than for one or the other major presidential candidate.

GOP Looks To The South

Growing GOP strength in the South is considered more likely than any significant move toward independent electors. President Eisenhower won four southern states in 1952 and added another one in 1956. Many political experts do not consider Eisenhower's victories as typical simply because of the great personal popularity of the man. Just the same, his showing in the South has given new heart to Republican hopefuls there. Many parts of the South, too, are now better organized insofar as the GOP is concerned than they ever have been in history.

All of this, of course, is strictly speculation but these are the things of which a national presidential election are made. They influence the kind of campaign that is waged and the points of emphasis throughout the campaign. They point up, too, what is now considered a fact—that this will be one of the closest elections the nation has ever experienced.

Long Is Gone

One of the nation's most bizarre politicians dropped from the scene in the death of Earl K. Long of Louisiana.

Former governor and a member of the tribe of the late Huey P. Long, another bizarre politician, Earl K. Long, died during a high moment in the recovery of his political fortunes. Governor of Louisiana until the state constitution prevented him from succeeding himself, Long bethought himself to resign shortly before his term ended and to turn the remaining days of the governorship over to the lieutenant governor—a transparent device to make himself eligible for another term, the voters being willing. But it didn't work, and the state election resulted in the fall of the Long political empire. But not for long. Recently Earl Long got back out in front by winning the Democratic nomination for Congress, which in Louisiana is tantamount to election.

The record of the rule of the Longs in Louisiana does not make the finest sort of reading as a text book of high-minded statecraft. There was a broad streak of demagoguery in the family, together with sufficient political craft and courage to make it pay off.

But the questionable reflection of the Long image in Louisiana is actually less of a criticism of the Longs as it is a reflection on the enlightenment of the Louisiana electorate. It was the majority of the popular vote which made them. And while the line may be running out the tendency of the Louisiana voters to keep the same kind of politics going continues to be present and awaiting a successor of like kind, though of a different name.

The criticism of Louisiana cannot be isolated to that state, but exists to a degree in other states which through apathy, indifference or plain mugwumpery elect to high public office, term after term, those men who are of no real service to their constituents nor ornaments to national statecraft.

Cranes Holding Their Own

Up in the wilderness area near Ottowa, Canada, the world's last flock of whooping cranes are beginning to feel the restless urge for a winter in Texas.

In a few more weeks they will take wing, braving the hazards of flight, making toward the Port Aransas game preserve. Then we will have a report on how well they are surviving.

At one time this beautiful bird with a red cockade on its head and its black tipped wings, spreading seven feet, was down to a slim total of 15 observable birds. But by dint of extraordinary protection the flock is now in the neighborhood of 40. Canadian observers assure us that there are at least four new young birds. In terms of bird life that is still an inconsequential number and no guarantee of a comeback of the breed. But at least it is headway.

It will be several years yet and several hundred birds more before the usual mathematical progression of growth will tell the story of the cranes' future.

It will be hard enough for the cranes to make the long flight south without the natural casualties of accident, age or exhaustion. And it is always an added hazard when the stopover route is populated with mistaken hunters.

Nebraska is regularly a point of call for the cranes and it is especially incumbent on Nebraska hunters to know their whooping cranes and to be very slow on the trigger if there is any question of doubt.

There are not many great white birds that are needed or wanted for game. And it would be a good rule to refuse to shoot at any such. It is better to be safe than sorry.

Toothsome, That's What

Arch Jarrell took time out from more serious editorial duties in the Grand Island Independent to sneer politely at a picture of Sen. John Kennedy eating an ear of Iowa sweet corn. He was not impressed for several reasons, mainly because the portion the young presidential hopeful was munching on was only about three inches long, obviously only part of an ear, and therefore removing the senator from among what Brother Arch calls your true corn-on-the-cob devotees.

To be consumed properly, the complete ear must be sopped with butter and salt, clutched firmly with the two hands—none of these fancy pronged holder gimcracks—and devoured noisily and with great gusto. As one works his way across the ear, harmonica fashion—and, O, what a lovely melody—presently there are three buttered ears in place of one, but who cares?

The Grand Island editor places himself with the three-row eaters, and we're inclined to go along with that. Two rows are far too dainty, and there is no room anywhere in this business for daintiness. Four rows might be permissible occasionally for an extremely big-mouthed gourmet.

And while we're on the subject, whatever became of that wonderful old institution known as dried corn? Some of our earliest recollections go back to that late summer chore when tubs and dishpans and buckets were cracked out and the shucking and silking and blanching began. From there it went to the sticky step of cutting, and from there to the screen trays. Far, far back, it seem to us, the trays were stacked in the sun for days of drying under netting or cheesecloth, with a constant fretting over flies and sudden thunderstorms. But in later years, they were placed under electric fans inside for slow finishing. There was another school that clung to the oven-drying method, but the sun or fans scoffed this aside as too rapid and turning the corn too brown and too hard.

At any rate, it was eventually poured into clean white bags and tucked away in a dry place, to be brought out again on a cold snowy evening to simmer away on the back of the old range and be served up with cream and butter and a dash of salt and pepper.

Summer or winter, on the cob or off, fresh or dried, it made mighty good vittles.

Navy Crackdown On Dissenters

WASHINGTON—The Pentagon admirals, who have openly revolted against their civilian superiors more than once in the past decade, won't tolerate such nonsense from their own men.

They have now lowered the boom on a few lowly enlisted men for the crime of complaining to their families. The offenders are disgruntled band members who wrote letters home, disputing the Navy's version of what happened to them on their tragic trip to South America.

Their letters complained that the Navy had staged a rigged press conference to deny the facts surrounding the deaths of 19 bandsmen in an air crash over Rio de Janeiro.

For the press powwow, the Navy rounded up six petty officers who dutifully denied this column's report that the band had been sent to South America to provide musical accompaniment for President Eisenhower's good-will tour, that they had been loaded into a beaten-up plane to fly over the Andes while Ike brought along an air armada of plush jets and transports flying empty, and that the bandsmen flatly refused to board one plane obviously unfit to fly.

The other band members, who weren't invited to the press conference, angrily drafted a petition charging that the six didn't speak for the majority but were stooges who would say whatever the Navy wished. Over 30 signed the petition before their superiors persuaded them to tear it up.

☆ ☆ ☆

This did not prevent them from writing home, however, about what had happened. Some of their letters fell into the hands of John Moss, crushing California congressman, who has been investigating government suppression of information.

Moss' investigators got hold of the letters before the bandsmen even returned to Washington. They were guilty of nothing more than writing the truth to their wives.

Meanwhile, the Navy assigned Capt. Herbert Schwab to investigate the band and recommend what should be done about it.

"There will be no retaliation against any of the men," he assured this column.

But obviously he wasn't speaking for the admirals whose vengeance he underestimated. Every man whose letters could be traced had his personnel record stamped with these words:

"In accordance with established criteria for the evaluation of enlisted performance, this man cannot justifiably be graded higher in military behavior, leadership, and adaptability. His actions after the Rio tragedy demonstrated a lack of requisite qualities in these categories."

Business Press Expecting Slump

WASHINGTON — A campaign issue is being discussed in the business press which will eventually reach the front pages and influence the election outcome more than the political questions now on display. It is the condition of the country's economy.

The "fabulous sixties" have simply not materialized. Two experts are agreed about this. They do divide into opposing camps on the degree of the recession, its probable course and what remedies the government ought to apply and how soon.

Economists debate also about the time when the downturn now so apparent to them will have its greatest impact. Many think this will not occur until 1961—a break, if true, for Vice President Nixon and the Republicans.

Any real recession, however, has a direct and severe impact upon large bodies of voters. The fact that most of those now affected by economic declines are in the big industrial states and the already restive farm belt represents an advantage to Senator Kennedy and the Democrats.

☆ ☆ ☆

In this area also Vice President Nixon, a lawyer, may speak less confidently than Kennedy, who was a prize pupil in economics at Harvard. That the Kennedy mentor was the articulate author of "The Affluent Society," John Kenneth Galbraith, may not recommend his views to the business community but it may make him the more persuasive on the hustings.

The political decision Nixon has to make is whether it is safe to stick with the Eisenhower optimism through the campaign. The dimensions of his dilemma are outlined by an unimpeachably Republican source, Business Week, whose editor, Elliott Bell, was superintendent of banks in the Thomas E. Dewey administration of New York state and slated to be secretary of the treasury in a Dewey cabinet.

☆ ☆ ☆

Business Week currently quotes several dozen professional economic forecasters and divides them into two groups: "Relative optimists," who think the nation is in a recession but readjusting itself so that by mid-1961 the economy will be moving upward again: and "relative pessimists," who believe we are living through the prelude to a genuine recession that will hit early in 1961.

Many of the pessimists are described as believing that "the worst economic trouble since World War II" is imminent.

Editorially the magazine urges the administration to accelerate spending for defense and public construction. It admits that its own economist is one of the few optimists.

Neither Vice President Nixon nor Senator Kennedy would display Eisenhower's economic caution; both would undoubtedly be far more sensitive to economic indicators than he has ever been. But both at this point are relative outsiders; the known views of their respective parties will be what counts

MARQUIS CHILDS

Natural America Is Vanishing

WASHINGTON — Tourists who pour into this capital, like those here over the Labor Day week end, almost invariably speak of Washington's broad tree-lined streets and the vistas that Pierre L'Enfant envisioned when he laid out the first plans for the city.

This, the sense of space and light, a river with its banks unspoiled by industry, impresses them perhaps as much as the nation's shrines which they dutifully visit. One of the minor themes running through recent sessions of Congress has been how to keep Washington that way and to prevent a rash of ill assorted monuments from cluttering the landscape.

It was symbolized by the attempt, thwarted for the moment at any rate, to build a memorial to Theodore Roosevelt on the island in the Potomac that bears his name. On this wooded island still largely in a state of nature it was proposed to put a big bronze globe, and with it would have gone concrete parking space and all the appurtenances of a so-called tourist attraction. The president's daughter, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who has lost none of her capacity for acidulous comment, called it a global Jungle Gym and it was thanks to her frank assault that Congress held up the memorial project.

As many devoted followers of TR pointed out, nothing could be more fitting as a memorial to him than to leave the island bearing his name a green and secluded place. The indefatigable Teddy, who took his children and any guests who happened to be in sight on strenuous tramps through the then rugged Rock Creek park, would be appalled by what is happening to much of the United States—the asphalt highways and airports interspersing the vast urban areas are the first to note that Americans seem to have given up the use of their legs entirely for motorized transportation.

With the last vestiges of the beautiful untouched America of the past rapidly being encroached upon, Congress has shown a strange reluctance to act. One instance is the Indiana dunes on the shoreline of Lake Michigan where steel companies are planning new plants. The effort to preserve this untouched shore as a national park for the recreation of the whole region has so far been stopped.

Another instance is the proposed dunes and Sea Lion Caves National Park on the Oregon coast. This was initiated by the late Sen. Richard L. Neuberger who was a true conservationist with an intimate knowledge and love for the splendor of the West. Rep. Charles O. Porter (Dem), Oregon, has proposed that the park be fittingly named for Neuberger. It has become an issue in the campaign, with property owners and others rallying the opposition to stop it.

A national park is a living and functional memorial, as those currently resisting the erection of more political sculpture in Washington like to point out. The capital abounds with static — and often ugly — monuments to men long since left behind by the sweep of history.

☆ ☆ ☆

In the mid-thirties, an ambitious architect suddenly made Congress conscious that there was no monument in the nation's capital to Thomas Jefferson. A successful effort was lobbied through Congress to create another static monument, the Jefferson Memorial, on the tidal basin which is today a 15-minute stop for the tourist buses. Opponents of the monument had pointed out that Washington was without an adequate hall for large public gatherings and what, it was argued, could be a better memorial to the eloquent Jefferson than such a hall.

The capital is still without a proper hall for large public gatherings. Those who propose to memorialize James Madison could hardly find a better monument than a handsome public meeting place that would bear his name. A citizen's committee is currently trying to raise money for a cultural center to fill a long-felt need for an adequate auditorium for opera and ballet. A James Madison hall as part of such a center would mean a continuing and lively association with one of the greatest of the architects of America's freedom.

More and more monuments are being pressed upon a capital in which there are already too many indiscriminately strewn about. Something called a freedom wall is being urged, as though freedom could be symbolized in a wall. A Franklin D. Roosevelt memorial is on the way, although FDR has been dead only 15 years. A bell tower in memory of Robert A. Taft went up on Capitol Hill less than five years after his death.

Without greater care and discrimination this can become absurd. And in the process, the spacious beauty of Washington can be destroyed.

Farm Thievery

Holdrege, Neb.

How far can a person go to protect his own property? I have lived on a farm all my life and have had numerous things stolen from me—chickens, gasoline, several young steers, melons, garden vegetables, and the latest thievery I know of was this past week when our deep-freeze was raided.

I feel each and every one of us has a right to protect our property after we have worked hard to produce something, and the next thief that comes along to my place may get exactly what the lady at Palisade handed out. In the fall we have the so-called "pheasant hunters" who are not looking for pheasants at all but roaming the countryside, lining up things they can come back and steal. Then the real hunters are blamed for some of the damage. Next season will see more "No Hunting" signs than ever before just because of such prowling and destruction.

Now there will be a trial at Palisade and a lot of hard feelings. The people should stop and think who was to blame. A person gets so sick and tired of the lazy good-for-nothing thief coming in the night and stealing his hard-earned property, whether it be melons or cattle. I wonder what the Palisade merchants would think if the farmers came into their places of business and just plain stole their merchandise?

Those responsible for having this charge filed should think things over, and perhaps they should be certain where their own children are at night, too.

Religious Bigotry

Wilber, Neb.

I want to congratulate Mr. Ames on his fine article on intolerance. I am wholeheartedly in agreement that religious bigotry should not be tolerated in our country.

But Mr. Ames ignored the simple fact that "Kennedy Fan" was the accuser and not I. I resented the implication that religious "bigotry and narrow-mindedness" were solely a Protestant vice.

Mr. Ames pointed out that Protestants are allowed the "right of peaceful assembly" in Catholic countries, but failed to state that this privilege is subject to Roman Ecclesiastical interpretation. On the other hand, I know of no Protestant country where the Roman Church does not have the full and free right to propagate its faith.

Under the constitutions of several of the Latin American countries, it is stated that the president must be a Roman Catholic.

A man's religious faith should not be a question of his qualifications for office, and I deplore the fact that it is and will be in the coming campaign, but there can be no denial that articles like the one from "Kennedy Fan" only aggravate the issue.

STILL NOT A FAN

☆ ☆ ☆

The Deeper Wounds

St. Paul, Neb.

Why does "Not a Kennedy Fan" feel that Kennedy or any other American is responsible for what another country believes or practices, Catholic or otherwise? To say that Catholic nations are the only ones that persecute and harass minorities is inconsistent. All nations, the United States notwithstanding, subtly or openly have at one time or presently practiced religious persecution.

It is ridiculous to compare our nation to Latin nations whose governments are in a constant state of flux and revolution, not because of their faith but because of their national volatile temperament. I would cite Protestant Germany under the leadership of Catholic Adenauer as a much better example.

A Cuban is a Cuban, a Dane is a Dane, and an Italian is an Italian. To divorce a man from his country or his environment it not only doing him a great disservice but it is nearly impossible. John Kennedy has been schooled apart from the church; the development and formation of his ideals and politics have taken place independently of the church. It is significant to me that although he comes from a large family, not one has been dedicated to the church. And one cannot help but admire this family's devotion to public service despite their means.

I am a Lutheran and while it is impossible for me not to distrust Catholicism, I refuse to believe that by tearing down another's faith and succumbing to the tactics of which we accuse them, I can in any way build my own, because in doing so, one ultimately incurs the deeper wounds. Because we accuse another of not being Christian does not mean we can retaliate in like fashion. Religion should not be the issue.

MRS. W.

Morrison, Cooper Tangle In Debate

...BOTH CLAIM CREDIT FOR INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION LAWS PASSED BY UNICAM

By Don Walton

Nebraska's gubernatorial candidates Tuesday night claimed a heavy share of the credit for industrial expansion legislation enacted by last month's special legislative session.

Republican John Cooper of Humboldt suggested that he, by pointing out "4 things wrong" with Gov. Ralph Brooks' original draft of LB1, shaped the final version of that measure.

Democrat Frank Morrison of Lincoln noted that he had recommended last April 2 the passage of legislation directly similar to that which the extraordinary session finally approved.

LB1 places on the Nov. 8 ballot a constitutional amendment authorizing counties and cities to issue revenue bonds to defray the cost of acquiring and developing sites and buildings for lease to private industry.

The other industrial measure (LB2) appropriated $35,000 from a surplus in the general fund for use by the State Resources Division, the official state agency for attracting industry.

Morrison and Cooper met face-to-face in the first of 4 debates arranged by Lincoln Radio Station KFMQ.

The "debate" triggered no real schism between the two candidates on the subject of industrial expansion and agricultural development.

Questions from the audience produced the only fireworks.

Morrison took issue with Cooper on a plan proposed by the Republican candidate to use some of the $300,000 appropriated annually for research into new uses for farm products for research into product diversification.

Better Done By Nu

The Democrat suggested the latter would be better undertaken by the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture than by the State Department of Agriculture, whose director chairmans the committee which makes use ot the present special one-tenth mill levy.

Cooper shrugged off a questioner's charge that he is anti-University with the answer that "this has never been true."

Morrison

Cooper

Cooper suggested (in answer to another question) that he is a Republican because GOP candidates are generally "better" than those of the Democratic party.

Morrison said he is a Democrat because he discovered in the 1930s that the best avenue to the social and economic goals in which he believed appeared to lie in the Democratic Party.

4 New Points

In a prepared statement, Morrison proposed 4 new points in his program to expand Nebraska's industry:

—work on the part of the governor for "more equitable" freight rates in the state.

—a program designed toward "relieving some of the tax load on property, a fuller discussion of which will appear by me during the course of this campaign."

—full emphasis by the Department of Agriculture and the Agricultural College in the development of new agricultural crops for which there is industrial demand in the nation.

—"sell Nebraska as a good place to live."

In developing that program, state government must play an important role . . . and "the governor sets the tone and the tempo for state government," Morrison pointed out.

Cooper suggested that legislative action was "only a start."

The Republican hammered at "personal experience" as a businessman in "meeting a payroll and knowing what it is to expand."

New industry, he said, would also provide off-season employment for Nebraska farmers.

Both candidates urged passage of the constitutional amendment proposed by the special session.

Murder Charge Facing Scott

Omaha (AP) — A first degree murder charge was filed Tuesday against Sullivan Scott, 23, in a near North Side shooting.

The victim was Ernest E. Anderson, 30, of Council Bluffs who was fatally wounded last Friday night.

Police said Scott had argued with his girl friend, Sherry Ann Marion, 21, and when he accosted her on the street Friday night he was brandishing a .22 caliber revolver.

Anderson, a bystander, shouted a warning to Miss Marion who ducked. Anderson was struck in the head by a bullet.

Breakin Nets $239 From Filing Chest

Grainger Bros. Co. at 737 P was burglarized and more than $293 in cash and checks was stolen, police said Tuesday.

Entrance was gained through an unlocked window, police said, and $199 in cash and $94 in checks were taken from a filing cabinet.

County Gets $72,788 Aid For Highways

The Lancaster County Board learned Tuesday that the county will receive $72,788 in federal aid secondary highway funds—approximately ¾ths of its allotment for fiscal 1962.

The Lancaster share of the secondary road funds is 3.9791% of the total $2,066,966 going to Nebraska's 93 counties.

The additional allotment of federal monies will be made about Jan. 1, 1961, "when the allocations can be adjusted to new census figures," according to the State Highway Department announcement.

County Engineer Louis Weaver commented that the total amount the county should receive following the final allocations seems to be "in line" with previous allocations of about $100,000.

The county, he said, may also get additional federal funds which are left unused by adjoining counties.

Gunfire Hits Utah Governor's Home

Salt Lake City (AP) — Gov. George D. Clyde said someone fired a bullet through the living room window of the Utah's Governor's mansion Tuesday night. Clyde, his wife and daughter were sitting in the room at the time, but the bullet missed them by about 25 feet.

The governor said he and his family were seated at the far end of the living room, on the east side of the year-old mansion. He said all the blinds were drawn, so no one could have seen where they were seated in the room.

The bullet came almost directly from the east, Clyde said, drilling a small hole in the glass wall, at the opposite end of the room.

Clyde, who is running for re-election, said he doubted that the shot was fired intentionally.

"I imagine some kids might have been shooting up on the hill," the Republican governor said.

Reckless Driving Finding Is Guilty For Seward Man

Vernon D. Dowty of Seward was found guilty of a reckless driving charge arising from a fatal traffic accident Aug. 20 and was fined $100 by Municipal Judge John Jacobson.

Dowty, 30, appealed to District Court and appeal bond was set at $200.

The Safety Patrol identified Dowty as driver of a car which was in collision with a transient, Leo L. Misbach, as Misbach was crossing West O the night of Aug. 20. Misbach, 62, was killed instantly by the impact.

Share-The-Fun Event Draws 13 4-H Entries

Purple ribbon talent from 18 counties across the Cornhusker state will compete for top honors in the 4-H Share-The-Fun Contest Thursday night.

The traditional event begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Open Air Auditorium at the State Fair.

"All entries took top honors in district contests held over the state in recent weeks," according to W. M. Antes, state 4-H club leader at the University of Nebraska.

Five judges will take part in selecting the overall winner. They will include: Kathryn Dean, member of the Department of Speech, University of Nebraska; Philip S. Sutton, Agricultural Extension Service, University of Nebraska; Bill MacDonald, farm director, Station KFOR, Lincoln; Don Leising, Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce; and Mrs. Lorraine Still, County Extension Agent, Broken Bow.

The various acts by counties:

Lancaster — A Sow Tale by the Northeast Toppers 4-H Club.

Loup — Rockets Mombo by the Rockets 4-H Club.

Stanton—On 4-H Island by the Chefs and Designers 4-H Club.

York — Star Dreams by Merry Mixers 4-H Club.

Red Willow — Lazy Bones Dream by the Red Willow Boosters.

Madison — That Wonderful Year by the Deer Creek 4-H Club.

Hayes— Three Little 4-H Pigs by the Junior Young Homemakers.

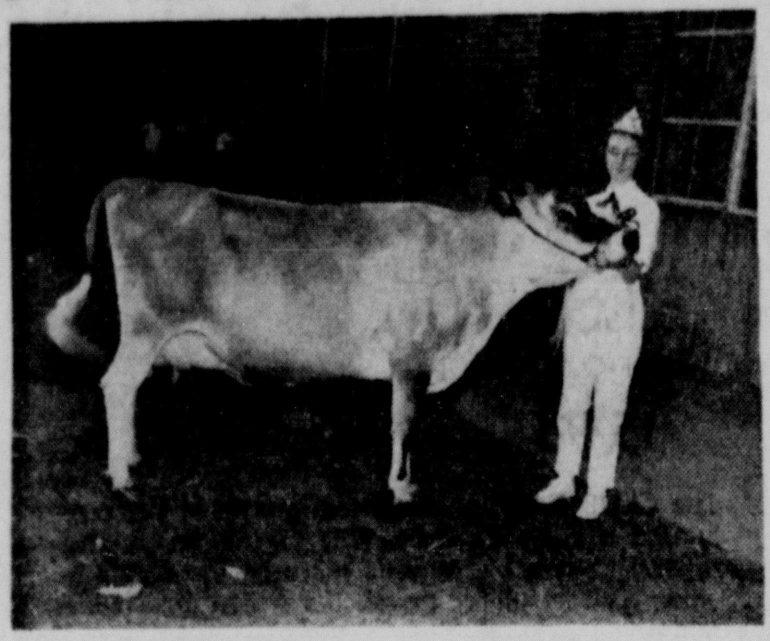
Scottsbluff — A 4-H Dream by the Sunflowerettes 4-H Club.



Lincoln Girl Wins Purple Ribbon

Kathleen Lux of Lincoln exhibited a purple ribbon Jersey cow (over two years old, registered) in the 4-H dairy show at the State Fair. Miss Lux also showed a purple ribbon Jersey senior yearling and placed in the top 10 in dairy showmanship.

7 Named To Civil War Commission

Gov. Ralph Brooks' office Tuesday announced the appointments of 7 members of the United Spanish Veterans to the State Civil War Centennial Commission.

They were John F. Kealy of Hastings; Emil E. Placek of Wahoo; Louis F. Lightner and August Warner, both of Columbus; Charles Smrha of Lincoln; and James A. C. Kennedy and George Mitchell, both of Omaha.

The names of the first members were announced earlier, and the governor's office stated that additions would be made by him and subsequent governors.

The state committee is to help in the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War during 1961-65.

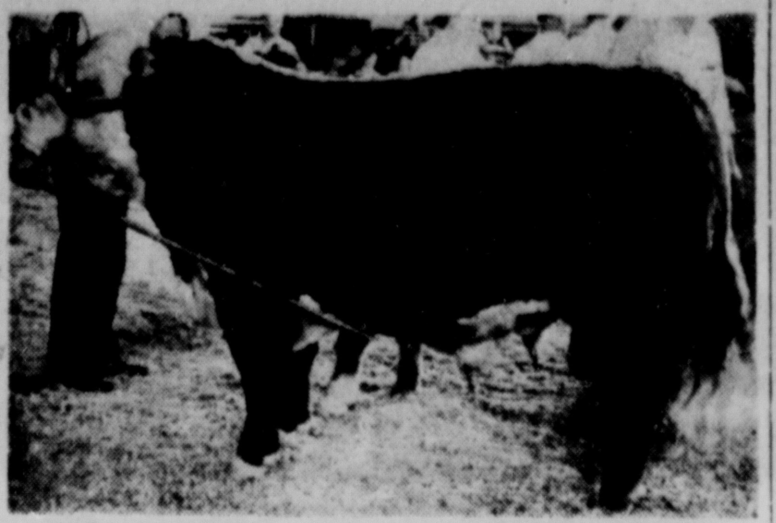
State Hereford Breeders Settle For 'Back Seat'



THE CHAMPION—Selected as champion of the Nebraska State Fair Hereford Show was H. Tone Heir 916, shown by Hudspeth Land & Cattle Co. of Prineville, Ore. (Star Photo).

By Glenn Kreuscher
Farm Editor

Nebraska Hereford breeders took their first back seat in many a year at the Nebraska State Fair Tuesday when out-of-state herds took every first place and championship in the show.

The 1960 champion bull at the Nebraska State Fair traveled a long way for his honors. Hudspeth Land & Cattle Co. of Prineville, Ore., in their first Nebraska showing took 3 first places in addition to the champion bull honors.

Jack Turner & Sons of Ft. Worth, Tex., took reserve champion bull honors on Husker Mischief 2464, first place senior yearling.

Turner continued his winning ways with the champion female, a thick deep-bodied senior yearling by the name of Miss Silver Mischief 596.

Included in Turner's 5 first places was the coveted Get-Of-Sire winning which goes to the breeder with best 4 animals representing both sexes and by the same sire.

J. F. Ferrell of Elgin, Okla., took two firsts in the bull classes.

One Of Strongest

The show was considered one of the strongest in quality ever exhibited at Nebraska and one of the largest with nearly 200 entries since the National Hereford Show was held at the State Fair.

The Nebraska Champion Bull and female were both shown by Hervale Farms of Wayne.

Honey Creek Ranch of Grove, Okla. showed the Reserve Champion Hereford female.

Inman Brothers Are Best State Conservationists

A 4-H livestock conservation demonstration presented by Gary and Keith Fick of Inman took top honors among 15 similar demonstrations at the Nebraska State Fair.

By winning first place, the Fick boys will represent Nebraska at the National Livestock Conservation Demonstration Contest at Chicago, Ill., held in connection with the National 4-H Club congress in November. Title of their winning demonstration was "Marketing Western Cows."

Runner-up honors went to Jerome Hagen of North Plttte with his demonstration on "Livestock Handling Equipment."

The Fick boys representing Holt County said bruised animals cause $10,000 in losses each year to cattlemen in the county. This fact is based on the estimated loss per bruised cow of $10.82.

They pointed out ways of reducing this loss through improved handling of cattle to prevent bruises. They said there are ways to handle cattle easier and more efficiently to deliver quality cattle to the central market.

U.S. Defectors Family Can Only 'Take Our Punishment'

Eureka, Calif. (AP) — The father of an American code clerk who defected to Russia said Tuesday the family of Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, of Eureka believes it "can be of greatest help to this country and to all concerned by taking our punishment."

"We know of nothing that can be done to alleviate our suffering," Emery F. Mitchell Sr., prominent Eureka attorney, told newsmen. "We can only hope and pray that our son was not in a position to greatly damage his country."

The elder Mitchell made his statement after studying news reports on the Moscow television appearance of his son and William H. Martin, 29, of Ellenburg, Wash. The two U.S. National Security Agency code clerks vanished earlier this summer while vacationing and later showed up in Russia.

Will Wait

Mitchell's father said he does not plan to go to Russia but will "wait until Bernon tries to contact me—if he's still alive."

Mitchell's mother, appearing haggard at a family news conference, said, "let me express our thanks for the mercy that has been shown us in Eureka. The press, the news agencies, you have been kind . . . you don't think you have the strength to bear suffering like this until it hits. Then only God gives you strength to face it. We pray. I ask one thing, for the strength to set an example to our children and our 6 grandchildren."

Young Mitchell's older brother, Emery, 34, a Eureka stock broker, described Bernon as a political conservative.

Can't Define It

"As far as I know Bernon could not even define Communism," he told newsmen.

"I don't think he was too interested in humanity, but I don't know. He was a dedicated sort of person in the things which interested him.

"But in school, he had to take history of Western civilization 3 times. He just wasn't interested in those things."

Kidnaped?

Emery Mitchell said he believed his brother and Martin were kidnaped in Havana, Cuba.

At Ellensburg, Martin's family declined comment.

A friend, who asked not to be identified, said Mr. and Mrs. John H. Martin expressed that opinion that if their son is in Moscow "he is there under duress."

The friend said the last the family heard from William Martin was when he telephoned home from Washington on father's day to speak with his father, a meat packing executive.

The young code clerks met in Japan while serving in the U.S. Navy as communications technicians and have been friends about 10 years.

Escape Try Gets Convicts Another Year

Seven State Penitentiary inmates who tried an abortive escape attempt Sunday night were sentenced to additional one-year terms after pleading guilty in Lancaster District Court.

Judge Paul White handed down the identical sentences for attempted escape after noting that there had been no personal violence involved in the attempt, and no major damage to prison property.

Sentenced to additional terms of one year to start after the expiration of their present sentences were:

John Joseph Kripps, 27, Omaha, serving time for a bar robbery committed a month after he had been released from the penitentiary.

Paul Small, 39, Omaha serving 15 years for a cash and jewel robbery of Margaret Kellogg in 1955.

Billy Ray Howard, 21, Scottsbluff, serving sentences for forgery and for escape.

Charles Dean, 24, Omaha, serving two 20-year sentences for rape in Douglas and Sarpy counties.

Larry Dye, 18, Omaha, serving 2 years for carrying a concealed weapon.

Gilbert Sagaser, 29, San Luis Obispo, Calif., serving 14 terms for arson and escapes.

Raymond Tapia, 28, Denver, serving terms for robbery, arson and escape.

The 7 gave themselves up after attempting to escape through an underground steam tunnel which they believed led to the outside but dead-ended in a locked manhole.

Prison officials said none of the men would talk of their escape plans in which others evidently aided.

Dr. Watkins Sees Upsurge In Education

"In the last quarter of a century man has accumulated as much knowledge as was accumulated from the beginning of time to 1935."

These were the words of Dr. Steven Watkins, superintendent of the Lincoln Public Schools, as he spoke on "Educational Problems For The 60s" at the general meeting Tuesday of the system's 1,095 teachers for the 1960-61 school year.

"There will be an accumulation of knowledge from 1960 to 1970 as great as in the past 25 years," he said.

"Therefore, it is important that educators decide what they will teach, where they will teach, and to whom they will teach," he added.

Superintendent Watkins discussed the effect of the population explosion on the schools—the cost and what people will demand from the schools in the way of services.

"We have gained 12,000 students in the last 12 years. We will gain another 12,000 in the next 12 years provided Lincoln doesn't grow and the birth rate doesn't increase," he pointed out.

In his 3rd and final point, Dr. Watkins said man's technical and scientific achievement will "bring more changes in the education pattern in the 60s than has been recorded since the educational system began."

Mrs. Roscoe Hill, Lincoln School Board president, was present to welcome Lincoln's teaching staff.

7 Beaten Airmen To Leave Hospital

McGuire Air Force Base, N.J. (AP)—Seven of 8 members of a U.S. Air Force crew that was attacked and beaten up by a Congolese mob will arrive back in the United States Wednesday after being released from a Leopoldville hospital.

The attack took place Aug. 27 when a crowd at the Leopoldville airport thought the airmen were Belgian paratroops.

An Air Force spokesman said he did not know which 7 were returning.

Smith Enters Innocent Plea In Gambling Case

Wahoo—Gail Smith of Ashland entered a plea of not guilty Tuesday morning when arraigned in Saunders County court on a charge of permitting gambling at his Town Tap Tavern.

Placed on a $1,000 bond, Smith will face trial Sept. 21 at 10 a.m.

Charges were an outgrowth of a raid Aug. 26 on the tavern by Saunders County Sheriff Charles Sayers. Smith was reportedly on vacation at the time.

Arraigned earlier on the same charges was Melvin Connolly, 30, of Ashland, who was identified as operating the tavern at the time of the raid. He also pleaded not guilty and was placed on a $1,000 bond with trial set for Sept. 21.

Race betting slips and cash were found during the raid, Sheriff Sayers revealed.

Brooks Asks School Review Of Bike Safety

Governor Ralph Brooks Tuesday directed an appeal to school administrators and local school boards to urge Nebraska school children and their parents to review the basic rules of pedestrian and bicycle safety as a part of school re-opening exercises.

In a statement issued from the governor's office, the chief executive urged:

—That the child's attention be directed at following the safest route to and from school and that the child make use of marked crosswalks, school stop signs, and intersections protected by stop signs or traffic lights.

—That young bike riders review common sense bicycle safety rules such as riding single-file on the right hand side of the street, obedience to traffic control signs and lights, abiding by right-of-way regulations, and using hand signals preparatory to turning or stopping.

—That school bus passengers and drivers give priority consideration to safe loading and unloading practices.

POLIO CASE BRINGS STATE TOTAL TO 6

One paralytic polio case was reported in the state last week bringing the total for the year to 6, the State Department of health said Tuesday.

A one-year-old boy who had been vaccinated contracted the polio. There were 93 polio cases reported at this time last year.

No rabies cases were reported. Total for the year remained at 32 compared to 33 last year.

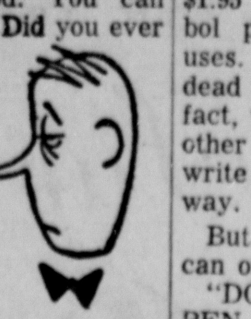
Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD



The finest thing about fall is when the children go off to school and peace settles on the neighborhood. You can hear a pin drop. Did you ever hear a telephone, with a long cord, fall out of a second story window?

Well, that sort of thing is over for awhile.

It is surprising how a telephone can fall out of a window. But it is the most logical thing in the world when it is explained:

"I was talking to Betty. And I set the phone on the windowsill, see? And I had to get something out of the drawer. Only the bed was in the way. So I HAD to move the bed. And the bed hit the table and tipped the lamp over. And the lamp hit the phone. It wasn't MY fault."

☆ ☆ ☆

School is like war. You never know where or when your reserves will be called on.

Last year it was fountain pens. Do you know we lost 13 FOUNTAIN PENS IN ONE SINGLE YEAR?

We buy a pen that costs $1.95 — it is a status symbol pen that EVERYBODY uses. We wouldn't be caught dead with any other kind. In fact, we can't write with any other kind. In fact, we can't write — not very well anyway.

But when we do write, we can only write with that pen.

"DON'T LOSE ANOTHER PEN THIS YEAR! HEAR ME?"

"Yes, father."

I heard that 13 times last year. An unlucky number. An unlucky year.

☆ ☆ ☆

School has changed a good deal since I was in knee pants. Not for the better.

I bought my pen at the first of the school year.

It was a better pen, in my opinion, than today's $1.95 model.

It had accessories. We bought the pen at the little store across from the school. The one with the glass window full of ju-ju beans.

It was a straight and honest piece of wood with a cork grip.

We bought pen points with it.

You inserted the pen point in the slot below the cork grip.

You tried it out by throwing it like a spear at the boy in front of you. If he hollered, "Ouch!"—you knew you had a good, sharp pen.

☆ ☆ ☆

With this excellent utensil, we bought a pen wiper. It was made of several small layers of chamois skin.

We did not buy ink. It was furnished by the Board of Education.

The ink was poured in a little well sunk in your desk.

If you chewed a spitball and dipped it in the ink and shot it with a rubber band, it would leave a nice ink spot on the other boy's shirt.

None of these things are possible with the $1.95 pen.

Oh, yes. We NEVER lost these pens. Because we kept them in our desks.

It is pens you carry around that get lost.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Another thing," I said, "is there any good reason why you have to shake the pen to get the ink out of it?"

Yes, there is. Sometimes the ink gets stuck or something.

"What I am getting at," I said cunningly, "is why the shaking has to be done over the car seat."

Well, that was somebody else. In fact, she remembers distinctly driving somebody home. And the ink stuck in this girl's pen. And she shook it.

"And all the time I said, 'DON'T shake it over the car seat. Because it will get on the seat and my father JUST put on new seat covers. And I am costing him a fortune already to go to school and I don't want to be a burden.' That was EXACTLY what I told her."

With a thoughtful, grateful child like that, what can you do?

I can raise her allowance. She suggested that right away.

TALK

—It could be that people who laugh at the wrong places have a warped sense of humor — So, we have a warped sense of humor. There was a wedding last Saturday. The church was beautiful, the bride was lovely as were the attendants, and everything proceeded according to well laid plans. Now weddings are rather solemn affairs, and it really wasn't the service itself that tickled our funny bone — it was the church bulletin board outside. There in large letters it proclaimed—"A Good Man is Hard to Find."

Naturally it was the title of the next day's sermon.

☆ ☆ ☆

—Speaking of weddings and honeymoons and such—

Following another Saturday wedding and reception the bride and bridegroom—Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hall (Judy Mueller) started off on their honeymoon in their brand new British Vauxhall. They sped along as far as Cotner and O streets where a tire went flat as a pancake. There they sat, wondering how it happened.

The mystery was cleared up soon, however, when carloads of Mr. Hall's fraternity brothers began driving by—offering nothing but a wave of the hand.

☆ ☆ ☆

—Echos of Labor Day activity are coming our way, and among them is a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Konrad Suprunowicz who are leaving Lincoln for Moscow, Idaho, where Mr. Suprunowicz will be a member of the University of Idaho faculty. The barbecue picnic, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Bryant, was given by Mr. and Mrs. Suprunowicz's neighbors on Kessler Circle and the group included Mr. and Mrs. Barclay Bayley, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Kuzelka, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mann, Don Mann, and all of their families.

Little Girls Grow Into College Women

These are busy and happy days for the unusually large number of Lincoln girls who soon will be leaving for the college of their choice. These also are busy days for the parents—but not quite such happy ones. There are too many things to remember—the things that happened "only yesterday" —the first day at kindergarten—the first dance recital—the first school play—the first party dress and, of course, the first real, unchaperoned date. But little girls do grow up, and now there is another first—college.

The 14 girls pictured above have been classmates at Southeast High School, but now will be going their separate ways since only two of them have chosen the same college. Those two young women are Miss Brenda Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Harrison, and Miss Pat Heumann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Heumann, both of whom will attend Stephens College, Columbia, Mo.

If the Notre Dame football team comes into its own this season we suspect that it will owe some of its success to an enthusiastic rooter from Nebraska—Auralee Sharrar, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lynn Sharra, who will be a freshman at St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, Ind., which, as you know, is just down the road a piece from Notre Dame University.

Freddie Rucklos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Rucklos, soon will be on her way to Loretto Heights College for Women at Denver, and C. Leigh Purvis, daughter of Dr and Mrs. Donald Purvis also has chosen the state of Colorado for her college —she will attend Colorado State at Ft. Collins. Cindy Haynie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haynie, and Kathie Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Williams, both will be in Iowa where Miss Haynie will attend the University of Iowa, and Miss Williams Grinnell College.

When the University of Nebraska plays the University of Kansas this year a Lincoln girl, Margie Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ross Martin, will be in the Kansas cheering section. She will be a freshman at KU.

Schools in neighboring states also have beckoned Jo Brown, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Brown, III, who will attend Christian College, Columbia, Mo., and Shirley Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Carroll who will be a freshman at Colorado Women's College at Denver.

One goes east — and one goes west — and there you have Barbara Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Clark, who goes to Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass.; and Judy Schorr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Schorr Jr., who has chosen to attend Scripps College, Claremont, Calif.

But there are other faraway places to which our very young college crowd will be going — Jill Cole, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Cole, will be on the campus at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., before too many days have passed, and leaving soon to attend the University of Wisconsin at Madison will be Marjorie Ebel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. James Ebel.

Brides' Book

Making announcement of her bridal party this morning is Miss Eileen Aksamit, whose marriage to Donald Muff of Crete will take place Saturday morning, Sept. 10. The ceremony will be solemnized at Blessed Sacrament Church.

For her honor attendant, Miss Aksamit has chosen her fiance's sister, Miss Betty Jane Muff, Crete. The bridesmaids will be Miss Annabelle Nemecek, Miss Mary Sandra Rice, and Miss Carol Aksamit, sister of the bride.

The flower girls will be Maureen Aksamit, also a sister of the bride, and Barbara Muff of Crete, sister of the bridegroom.

Serving his brother as best man will be Larry Muff, Crete, and groomsmen will be Don Vyhnalek, the bride-elect's brother, Gary Aksamit, and Dwaine Bauer of Crete. Seating the guests for the eleven o'clock ceremony will be Francis Valenta of Crete, brother of the bride, Dick Aksamit, and Leon Muff of Crete, brother of the bridegroom.

Entertaining at their home Friday evening at a prenuptial dinner will be the parents of the September bride-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Aksamit.

Miss Mary Lou Finnigsmier and her fiance, Dennis Semin, have selected Friday, Nov. 25, for their wedding date. The ceremony will take place at the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Miss Marylu Olson was the incentive for a prenuptial courtesy at which Miss Lucille Stephens and Miss Margaret Targy entertained at their home on Tuesday evening, Aug. 30. During the evening hours, the October bride-elect was presented with a personal shower by the 20 guests.

The wedding of Miss Olson and her fiance, William Crods of Omaha, will take place on Saturday, Oct. 29, and the ceremony will be solemnized in St. Mary's Church in Davey.

Family Features

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This problem has my whole family all shook up. My grandmother is 64. She has been a widow for six years. She has a beau who is about 75 and they are talking about marriage. He is polite and nice but he doesn't have any money to brag about. Gram owns her own home and has some other property around town. My parents have been trying to talk Gram out of going with this man. They tell her to her face she is acting like an old fool and things like that. This makes Gram sad and she cries. Do you think it's any of my parents' business to tell Gram how to run her life? They say she doesn't know the score.

WORRIED GRAND-DAUGHTER

DEAR WORRIED: Assuming your grandmother is able to think for herself, your parents are being unnecessarily cruel. Doesn't Gram know the quickest way to find out if a man is after her money is to ask him to sign an agreement before marriage stating "What's his is his, and what's hers is hers"?

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I entertained at a little tea for a friend who is moving. One of my guests (a neighbor) brought me a pound of coffee, gift-wrapped, and said, privately, "I'm here so much."

I told her I couldn't accept the coffee. I meant to give it back to her when she left but it slipped my mind. I am hurt and want to return it. Would it be wrong to mail it back to her with a little note saying it wasn't necessary?

HURT HOSTESS

DEAR HURT: Keep the coffee and forget it. Mailing it back would only furnish grounds for a misunderstanding.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I gave up my child for adoption nine years ago. I knew when I signed her away it would be a final decision but I can't stop trying to find out where she is. I am married now and have three other children but I still long for my first born. My mother tells me I should leave well enough alone and forget her, but how can I forget her, Abby? Please help me.

SAD HEARTED MOTHER

DEAR SAD: Your searching would probably be in vain, and if you did locate the child it would be unfair to her and to her adoptive parents after nine years. When a mother loses a child by death, she leaves the child in God's care. The mother who gives up her child for adoption must have the same kind of faith.

Opening lead — jack of clubs.

It must be granted that the outcome of many hands played by declarer depends upon how the defenders' cards are distributed.

The declarer's job is to take advantage of a favorable lie of the adverse cards when that is the case, but (equally important) he must also be prepared to combat as far as possible an unfavorable distribution of the defenders' cards.

Examine this hand. Declarer wins the club lead with the queen and plays a spade to the ace, East showing out. This is an unfortunate development, because the odds heavily favor a 2-1 trump break.

Now that a trump trick has to be lost, South is in danger of going down in a contract that a moment before seemed almost sure to make. The fate of the hand appears to rest solely on whether East or West was dealt the ace of hearts.

But it would be wrong for declarer to stake the result of the hand entirely on the location of the heart ace. To lead a heart at this point in the hope that West has the ace would be relying too much upon the element of luck. In the actual hand, such a move would prove fatal.

Declarer can test, instead, an alternate possibility that might succeed regardless of where the ace of hearts is located. After cashing the king of spades, he plays the A-K of diamonds and ruffs a diamond.

He then enters dummy with a club and leads the last diamond. East follows with the queen, but, instead of ruffing it, South discards a heart.

East is endplayed. A heart return makes dummy's king a trick, while a club return permits South to discard a heart as dummy ruffs the club.

What declarer does, in adopting this line of play, is to give himself an added chance of making the contract. He does not know which opponent has four diamonds, or who has the ace of hearts, but it costs him nothing to first try to endplay East.

Dorothy Draper

In a sophisticated weekly magazine recently, I read about the demise of the dining room, and although it does seem to be disappearing into an "area" of "L" space, this doesn't mean that gracious dining need "pass out" altogether.

There are many homes which still enjoy a family dining room. However, in most instances the room must serve a dual purpose It becomes either a combination dining room and den or study, or dining room-sewing room, or a dining room with a relaxing corner.

I think the interesting part of this change is that even if there is a dining room, people like to eat around the house in a change-about mood.

A card table set up in front of a fireplace or window—the round ice cream table from the terrace, covered with a pretty cloth lends a sidewalk cafe look to the corner of a kitchen. Trays on stands that are lap-high can be set up anywhere.

A round table with a bright printed cloth to the floor and two small chairs in a bedroom corner make morning coffee or afternoon tea (after all, anybody can spare fifteen minutes out of one whole day) a bit more zestful than drinking it from the corner of the kitchen cabinet. (Take the phone off the hook and relax!)

Dining rooms may be on the wane, but see that your enthusiasm doesn't follow suit. Whereever you eat, make it as attractive as possible!!

Mrs. W. B. asks:

"We are building a new house. I want ceramic tile on the bathroom and kitchen floors. My husband says it is cold underfoot for a bathroom floor and that it would be very tiresome to work on in the kitchen since one spends so much time in that one room. Please give us your opinion."

Dear Mrs. W. B.:

Just wait until your husband gets the estimate for that ceramic tile work, he'll forget about the tile being "cold" and start worrying about that "hot" cost. Real ceramic tile (if that is what you mean) is most expensive. If you get your wish, you could always use small rugs to stand on. With all the good vinyl and other practical floor covering today, why do you insist on ceramic tile?

Mrs. R.L.I. asks:

"I love stripes but can never seem to fit them in with other patterns. How do you do it?"

Stripes are easy to get along with almost anywhere —with plain fabrics, printed fabrics, plaids, checks—and by varying the size of the stripe you can get all kinds of combinations with these fabrics. If you like them, do use them!

Every Patron Is An Honored Guest!

. . . with thoughtful attention to every wish, we try to convey to you how very much we appreciate the privilege of serving you. Make a date to dine out here soon.

Had Early Autumn Ceremony

MRS. ROBERT ARNOLD RHOADES

The chancel of the First Baptist Church at Hyattsville, Md., was lighted by clusters of white candles and appointed with white gladioli and Fujii chrysanthemums on Thursday, Sept. 1, for the marriage of Miss Nancy Morgan Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smith of Hyattsville, to Robert Arnold Rhoades, son of Prof. and Mrs. Harold F. Rhoades of Lincoln. The ceremony was solemnized at 8 o'clock in the evening by the Rev. Henry R. Osgood.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. William R. Filo of Oceanside, Calif., was frocked in the watermelon pink shade. Costumed identically in peacock blue were the bridesmaids, Miss Joanne Thom and Miss Millie DeMarinis, College Park, Md., and Miss Janet Norman, Hyattsville.

David Rhoades, Lincoln, served as best man, and seating the guests were Jason Armstrong, North Platte; Robert Sward, Lincoln; Jim Dunn, DeWitt; John Norman, Hyattsville; and Thomas Houchins, Riverdale, Md.

The bride appeared in a gown of white silk taffeta and Chantilly lace. The bateau neckline of the long-sleeved bodice of lace was highlighted with pearls and iridescent paillettes, and a deep flounce of the jeweled lace bordered the extremely full skirt of silk which was completed by a dust ruffle of crystal-pleated tulle. A halo brim of lace and pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried white glamelias and orchids showered with stephanotis.

The couple left for Frankfort, Germany, where the bridegroom is stationed with the Army. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Mr. Rhoades also attended the University of Maryland, at which the bride is a former student. Mrs. Rhoades is a member of Tau Beta Sigma honorary.

SUBURBIA

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

Before we close the vacation book for another season, there are a few holiday trips of Country Club Terrace residents to mention.

Returning to Lincoln Monday following a week's holiday in Estes Park, Colo., were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lindburg and their daughters, Susan and Nancy. Also enjoying the not-so-warm Colorado resort weather were other Lincoln families including Mr. and Mrs. Loren Dotson and their family, Dr. and Mrs Dale Ebers and their daughter, Julie, and Mrs. Kenneth Isaacson and their family.

And then we heard that also among the Lincoln contingent in Estes Park are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Adamson who plan to return home later this week.

Motoring to Grand Island Sunday were Mr. and Mrs Forrest Hatheway and their family. They were the houseguests for the day of Mrs. Hatheway's sister, Mrs. E. A Ashwood, and her family.

And visitors seem to be coming and going at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Stoddard. In Lincoln over the long holiday week end were Mrs. Stoddard's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Richardson, and their family from Lexington. The Richardson's visit also included a trip to the Fair.

Also due to arrive this week from their home in Lexington are Mrs. Stoddard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Richardson.

While we are talking about the Stoddard family, we should mention that Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard and their children, David and Sheri Ann, will be moving from their present address, 4040 So. 20th. They plan to move into the home at 1562 So. Cotner later this fall.

The welcome mat is out this morning for Mr. and Mrs. Dayle E. Williamson and their three children, three year-old David, Susan, who is two years old, and one year-old Sandra. The Williamson family moved a week ago from 4400 So. 43rd into the home at 3901 Dunn Ave.

Understand that some new residents in Country Club Terrace are Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Blake. Formerly residing in Albuquerque, N. Mex., the family moved last week into the home at 3923 Pace Blvd.

One final change for the Country Club Terrace address book. Aug. 30, Tuesday was moving day for Mrs. Leona Schmoker and her son, Dick who is a Sigma Nu and junior at the University of Nebraska. They moved from 2122 Stockwell into the home at 4912 A St.

DAR District Meeting

The annual meeting of District 6 of the Nebraska Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be held in Lincoln on Thursday, Sept. 15, at the Hotel Cornhusker.

A featured speaker will be Mrs. Grant A. Ackerman of Lincoln, state regent, and member of Lincoln's Deborah Avery Chapter.

Chapter delegates and members representing Deborah Avery and St. Leger Cowley Chapters of Lincoln, and of the Elizabeth Montague Chapter of Beatrice, will attend the all-day meeting.

Opening with a roundtable discussion for all DAR members at 10 o'clock, the agenda will include a noon luncheon followed by an address by Judge Herbert A. Ronin, and a puppet skit presented by Mrs. C. R. Hatten, a member of Deborah Avery Chapter.

Bride At Candlelight Service

MRS. RICHARD L. FILES

At a candlelight ceremony solemnized on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 28, Miss Mary Ann Langford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Langford of North Platte, became the bride of Richard L. Files, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Files of Maxwell. Yellow gladioli and chrysanthemums in autumn tones formed the background in the First Lutheran Church at North Platte for the service.

Frocked in silk chiffon over taffeta in the honey tone and carrying cascades of carnations and croton leaves in autumn shades were the bride's attendants, Mrs. Charles W. Langford, Scottsbluff; Mrs. Keith Lehr, Shreveport, La.; and Miss Susan Jane Smith, Portland, Ore.

Arliss Brash, Aberdeen, S.D., served as best man, and the corps of ushers included Doug Olson and Jay Snell, Omaha; Charles Olsen, Nebraska City, Charles W. Langford, Scottsbluff; Bob Wiese, McCook; and Bob Phares, North Platte, Gary Files, Holly, Colo., and Sydney Nicholas, Maxwell, lighted the candles.

White silk organza over taffeta, fashioned the bride's gown. Jeweled Alencon lace patterned the short-sleeved basque and formed the portrait neckline, and floral apliques of the lace were repeated on the bouffant skirt which extended into a train beneath a bustle pouf. Her silk illusion veil was held by a pearl crown.

Mr. and Mrs. Files will reside at 2827 Aylesworth in Lincoln, where the bridegroom, a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, attends the University of Nebraska. Mrs. Files is a graduate of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo.

RAFER WINS DECATHLON; DAVIS, ELLIOTT SPARKLE

3 Americans Garner Mat Medals To Pass Russians

. . . OLYMPIC GAMES HAS DRAMATIC DAY

By Oscar Fraley

Rome (UPI) — Big Rafer Johnson of the United States, running his heart out under the floodlights, won the Olympic Decathlon championship Tuesday night with an Olympic record of 8,392 points in a dramatic windup to 26 hours of gruelling competition.

Barrel-chested Herb Elliott of Australia smashed the world record in the 1,500 meter run with a 3:35.6 clocking and slender Otis Davis of Los Angeles broke the world mark in the 400 meters with 44.9 on this day of brilliant competition.

3 Wrestlers Win

Doug Blubaugh, Terry McCann and Shelby Wilson, 3 Oklahoma wrestlers, won Olympic gold medals for the United States in the finals of freestyle competition.

It was America's best showing in wresting since 1932 when it also won 3 gold medals. In 1956 no U.S. wrestler won.

But to the crowd of 40,000 that stayed in its seats well into the deep black of a cool Roman night, the emotional highlight came as the burly Johnson, world record holder from Kingsburg, Calif., headed into the final event of the decathlon with only a 67-point lead over his UCLA teammate, C. K. Yang of Taiwan.

This was the 1,500 meter run, an exhausting demand on athletes who already had competed in 5 events and 4 more Tuesday.

BRAND COPS FIFTH PLACE

Rome (AP) — Dan Brand, former University of Nebraska rassler from Bellevue, Neb., was eliminated from the Olympic freestyle wrestling Tuesday.

Brand, grappling as a light heavyweight, was decisioned by Russia's Anatoly Albul in the semifinals. Brand won 5th place while Albul finished in 3rd.

Yang Favorite

Yang, admittedly a better runner than Johnson, was expected to beat him in the "metric mile" run — the question was only whether his margin would be enough to wipe out Johnson's lead.

The crowd ignored the two other runners in the heat and concentrated on the personal duel between Yang and Johnson. Yang was leading, but Johnson clung to his footsteps, matching him stride for stride.

Finally, on the backstretch of the last lap Yank tried desperately to pull away.

But Johnson hung on grimly and when they hit the finish line Yang was timed in 4:48.5 and Johnson in 4:49.7. Yang gained only 9 points and finished second with 8,334.

Greatest Athlete

Johnson, now laying official claim to the title of "world's greatest all-around athlete," thus eclipsed the Olympic mark of 7,937 points set by Milt Campbell of the United States in 1956 although he did not menace this own world mark of 8,683.

In the process he demolished an old foe — Russia's Vassily Kuznetsov, who finished a distant 3rd at 7,809.

Johnson opened the day with a 54-point lead over Yang after Monday's first 5 events. But Yang went ahead by 128 points when he ran the 110-meter hurdles in 14.6 seconds to Johnson's 15.3

Johnson, however, regained the lead by 144 points when he hurled the discus 159 feet, 1 inch to Yang's 130 ft., 8 inches.

Johnson increased his lead to 67 points by hurling the javelin 228 ft., 10 inches to set the stage for their duel in the 1,500 meters.

Elliott, king of the world's milers who trains on health food and practices on sand dunes, won the 1,500 meter run in 3:35.6 to break his own world record by 4-10ths of a second.

All told, the first 7 finishers battered the pace of a 4-minute mile.

Davis Lunges

Davis, fighting off a desperate lunge at the wire by Germany's Carl Kaufmann, won the 400 meters in 44.9 seconds—a feat track experts class with breaking the 4-minute barrier in the mile.

The United States led Russia in gold medals 26-22 although Russia held its lead in the unofficial team race.

Russia has 446½ points, the U.S. 416½.

Elliott's time was the equivalent of a 3:52.6 mile run at the same pace. His world mile record is 3:54.5.

Burleson 6th

The athletes who struggled home in his wake set records on their own. Dyrol Burleson of the University of Oregon could finish no better than 6th but his 3:40.9 clocking was a new American record and the theoretic equivalent of a 3:57.9 mile.

Davis' triumph came in one of the most exciting races seen in this Olympiad. It took a photo finish to give him the nod over Kaufmann as Mal Spence of South Africa took 3rd.

Russia picked up a gold medal in shooting when A. Gutschin set an Olympic record in the free pistol final with 560 points.

Oerter Sets Mark

But Al Oerter of New Hyde Park, N. Y., opened the defense of his discus title by setting an Olympic record with a heave of 191 feet, 8 3/8 inches, topping his own 184-10 7/8.

Rink Babka of Manhattan Beach, Calif., also qualified with 178-8 7/8 and Dick Cochran of Brookfield, Mo., made it with 176-5 3/4

Joseph Schmidt of Poland set an Olympic record by winning the hop, step, and jump with a leap of 55 feet, 1 3/4 inches as Russians V. Goriaev and V. Kreer took second and 3rd.

Ira Davis of Philadelphia missed the bronze medal by only ¾ of an inch at 53-10.

Jennings Tries Switches At 5th Husker Practice

. . . TOP 2 LINEUPS EXPECTED THIS WEEKEND

By Don Bryant

Blessed with experience for the first time in 4 years, Coach Bill Jennings continued to try different combinations Tuesday as the Nebraska Cornhuskers chalked up their 5th day of practice.

Moving up to the No. 1 unit Tuesday for the first time were left guard Tyrone Robertson and left halfack Bernie Clay.

"We're looking at everyone," Jennings said. "This is their first day up there and we want to see what they can do."

Robertson moved ahead of letterman Darrell Cooper, a 1959 center, while Clay replaced letterman Gene Ward.

Jennings indicated the coaching staff would "pretty much" settle on the top two units by the end of this week, leaving next week for final polishing before the Texas opener on Sept. 17.

Drawing special praise Tuesday was sophomore end Bill Comstock of Scottsbluff.

"He's going to be a fine end," Jennings said. "While he doesn't have great backfield speed, Bill has that real good end speed we're looking for and he likes it rough.

Running on the top club Tuesday afternoon were Comstock, left end; George Haney, left tackle; Robertson, left guard, Don Fricke, center; Gary Toogood, right guard; Roland McDole, right tackle; Don Purcell, right end; Pat Fischer, quarterback; Clay, left halfback; Warren Powers, right halfback; and Noel Martin, fullback.

Sidelights . . . . Jennings has called off afternoon squad meetings, leaving the players with free "rest-up" time between 11:45 a.m. until 4 p.m. . . . Mic Drum, Fremont sophomore who has been working on the No. 5 unit, left camp without issuing a farewell. Jennings said "he missed two practices without an excuse and was dropped" and reported that Coach Tom McLaughlin of Hastings College had phoned to inform him that Drum was joining the Nebraska College Conference club . . . soph guard Dwain Carlson missed Tuesday's work because of an infected hand . . . soph end Bill MacDonald will be sidelined indefinitely with an ailing back. He is the only Husker at the moment who is a doubtful participant against Texas . . . Sprint drills indicate end Don Purcell and center Don Fricke are the speediest linemen, while Pat Fischer has been pacing the backs, closely pressed by Thunder Thornton . . . Tuesday afternoon the Huskers worked on covering kickoffs for the first time.

Shiek's Strangling Tactics Top Pesek

By Don Bryant

A new and rather stormy character crashed the local pro rassling scene Tuesday night at Pershing Auditorium, and he won by a neck.

The Sheik, who appears all decked out in authentic Arabian garb and warms up by socking his assistant, The Princess, made quite an impression on 3,000 fans and Promoter Jack Pesek's neck.

In the other half of the main event, Nick Bockwinkel was awarded a decision over Dr. Bill (X) Miller when the latter was disqualified.

But it was this Sheik fellow who stole the show and the match with Pesek. Pesek became incensed when the Sheik started batting around his feminine aide—while she was incensing the ring—and started proceedings with a flying drop kick.

Uses Garrote

Then the duo exchanged a bit of head knocking with the aid of chairs, but the Sheik rallied and with the aid of a collision between Pesek and referee Tom Novak and a hidden garrote was awarded the win.

While Novak was out of the ring, Sheik came up with a goat's hair rope and strangled Pesek into submission in 5:20.

BUCS LOSE GROAT

The Pittsburgh Pirates lost the services of team captain Dick Groat Monday night when the star shortstop suffered a fractured wrist when hit by a pitch by Milwaukee's Lew Burdette.

Groat will be out 4 weeks and will miss the National League stretch run. See story on next page.

Bockwinkel used some of the agility he learned under Nebraska football coach Bill Jennings when both were at

Selinger's Blow Earns Chiefs Split With Reds

. . . LINCOLN TRIES TO CLINCH 2ND TONIGHT

Lincoln Star Special

Topeka — Dick Selinger ripped a 2-out single to score 2 runs in the 9th and stave off disaster for Lincoln, nabbing the 2nd game of a twinbill from Topeka, 4-3.

The Reds had taken their 3rd straight from Lincoln in the opener, 2-1.

The split left the Chiefs a game and a half ahead of Sioux City in the race for second place, with 2 games to play. Ron Woods (17-8) will try to nail down second for the Chiefs tonight.

Don Pavletich's 2-run homer off Dan Osinski in the 8th had given Topeka a 3-2 lead, but Jerry Moseller saved Osinki's 9th win in 11 decisions by hurling a scoreless final frame after Selinger's heroics.

Rally Started

Chuck Lindstrom opened the 9th by getting his 3rd hit, a single. Al Bullock popped out trying to bunt and pinch-hitter Al Alvarez forced Lindstrom at second.

But starter and loser Gale Peregrin walked Al Weis and went 3-0 on Gary Johnson. Peregrin was replaced by George McWilliams, who finished walking Johnson to set the stage for Selinger.

A walk, singles by Dean Lock and Don Buford and Lindstrom's double gave the Chiefs a pair in the 4th inning. An error, walk and Peregrin's single got one for Topeka in the 2nd.

1-Hit Defeat

In the opener, Nalon Johnson hurled a one-hitter and got the runs he needed on Bill Martin's 2-run homer in the 5th to beat Dick Kimball.

Kimball pitched a 4-hitter.

Buford got the only hit off Johnson in the 6th, but the Lincoln run scored in the 3rd on a balk by Johnson.

Good Answer

Returning after a long layoff this fall will be weekly "Monday Quarterbacks" meeting, featuring Bill Jennings.

The Nebraska coach will defend his record each Monday noon. But there's a change in the location from previous NU armchair strategists' confabs.

This fall Jennings will do his talking in Omaha at the Fontenelle Hotel, thanks to the sponsorship of the radio broadcasters in that city.

Husker "quarterbacks" used to meet in Lincoln at the University Club and there may be some loud squawks around the Capital City because the weekly feature has been reinstated and moved to Omaha.

But Jennings has a good answer for that: "No one in Lincoln—or anywhere else—has ever asked me to participate in a Quarterback Club."

The Husker coach apparently doesn't have any apprehensions about facing the loaded questions that usually spice a Monday QB session, a sign he expects to win some games.

"If someone wants to start one in Lincoln, I'd be glad to speak there, too," Bill said.

Not Alone

Jennings will join Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson and Colorado's Sonny Gradelius, among other Big 8 coaches, in the Monday noon second-guessing routine.

The Lincoln QB sessions were discontinued after the 1953 season, to the relief of the University Club and coach Bill Glassford. Criticism was leveled at the club because the grid luncheon was a closed affair, not open to the public. Criticism was aimed at Glassford because his teams were losing.

Ironically, Glassford came up with a winning season in 1954 and wasn't able to receive plaudits from the QBs instead of verbal brickbats.

The new Omaha QB setup has eliminated the "members only" situation by throwing open the doors to the public. But Jennings' best bet to have fun at the sessions is to direct a winning season.

PS: The first Omaha QB luncheon will be held next Monday and seats come on a first-come, first serve basis.

Short Shots

Warming up for the appearance of their beloved Sooners, 32,500 Oklahoma fans turned out last weekend to see Philadelphia—with ex-Sooner Tommy McDonald starring—bomb Detroit, 40-10, in a pro exhibition game at OU's Owen Field . . . Most reasonable explanation of why John Thomas didn't win the Olympic high jump: he was so confident, after many meets with no competition and great success, that he by-passed lower qualifying heights, took one jump at 6-11½ to get in the finals, and kept passing until the bar got to 7-feet, one-quarter inch. In other words, he gambled on a grand finish, instead of warming up to the big test gradually . . . Add Kansas to list of Big 8 schools hoping injuries don't throw a damper on high expectations. Coach Jack Mitchell keeping fingers crossed for 8 players, all of whom have an injury history. Both first time tackles— Stan Kirshman and Dick Davis—had ankle hurts in 1959; second-team left halfback Jim Jarrett suffered a fractured leg in the spring Alumni game and No. 2 right halfback Jim Marshall had a knee operation last winter; the third KU unit has 4 questionable knees—center Bill Burnison and quarterbacks Bill Crank and Lee Flachsbarth all underwent knee surgery—and left halfback Hugh Smith, an ex-Husker, twisted a knee in spring practice and missed most of the drills.

Arrangements Underway For Safer Races

While the body of Al Chamberlain, driver killed in big car races at the State Fair Monday, was en route to Altoona, Pa., for funeral services, arrangements were already underway to better safety conditions on the track.

Al Sweeney, president of sponsoring National Speedways, Inc., announced the pits will be moved into the infield, removing that obstruction from the track.

Previously, the pits were stationed on the inside of the track in front of the grandstand.

"If that accident Monday had occurred in the pit area, it would have been a real mess," said Sweeney.

Backstretch Guard

Sweeney also said a steel guard rail will be installed down the outside edge of the Chiefs Fight '60, '61 Battles

With the final home game of the season now history—Lincoln lost it, 6-2—the Chiefs are concentrating on two important points: winning the battle for second place in the Three I League, and operating for the 15th straight year in 1961.

There are some mighty big questions surrounding each point, too.

On the first point, second place, the Chiefs are in a position to wind up 4th if they fall flat on their faces in the final games at Topeka. They went into the final 2 games with a 1½ game margin over Sioux City.

Of course, Lincoln could solve the standings problem by winning.

Continuation?

It's not that easy to solve the question of continuing as Nebraska's sole professional baseball city.

The Chiefs had a winning home season and will finish above .500 regardless of what happens at Topeka. But that didn't put the club in the black by a long shot.

It's no secret that for the umpteenth time Lincoln is having financial troubles of the first order, something the directors and general managers have faced for years.

45,167 Fans

A re-check of attendance figures shows the Chiefs drew 45,167 fans to Sherman Field in 1960, just 384 more than attended games in 1959.

Main reason for losing money? Not enough fans turned out to make up the deficit resulting from the slash in ticket prices.

There's no question but what the weather hurt the Chiefs—10 dates were rained out and many others were played under threatening skies—more than any other single factor.

Despite the financial troubles, the Chiefs are planning on making every effort to operate again in 1960.

The Chiefs already have made a small deposit with the National Association, a token declaration of intent to operate in 1961.

Chicago Meeting

And Vaulx Risser, executive vice president of the Chiefs, will meet this week in Chicago with White Sox farm director Glenn Miller and other major league officials.

Risser has listed 3 things that must be accomplished if Lincoln is to remain in baseball:

(1) assurance from fans that they want professional baseball; (2) a renewed working agreement with the White Sox on a sound basis in order to assure a satisfactory operation; and (3) obtaining additional funds from some other source.

"I know there is a strong interest in the continuation and we are going to do everything possible to continue," Risser said. "The first step is consultation with the White Sox and the hope that more financial help can be obtained from the major leagues."

Schimmel Happy

A. Q. Schimmel, president of the Chiefs through all 14 years of their existence, Tuesday expressed extreme satisfaction with the 1960 operation, praising the White Sox, Manager Ira Hutchinson and the fans.

Schimmel's statement said: "The board of directors is not pessimistic about the future.

"We feel the team made a terrific recovery after a poor start, due in large part to an excellent job by Manager Ira Hutchinson. It was an outstanding team, not far from the title.

"While our increase in attendance was small, it was an increase at a time when many areas in baseball are experiencing terrific decreases . . . this was due to the fine continued support of our fans.

"We on the board of directors still feel that baseball is an important source of entertainment for Lincoln. Baseball this year has been nothing but a credit to Lincoln. We know the White Sox did all they could to help us."

Oklahoma to help his cause against Miller.

X Takes First

The late Dr. X jumped off the top strand of ropes to flatten Nick in 15:30 and tried to repeat the stunt at the start of the second fall.

But the ex-Sooner gridder adeptly dodged, letting Miller's knee hit the ring instead of his stomach, and gained a pin in 39 seconds.

Bockwinkel pummelled Miller's banged up knee throughout the 3rd fall, but couldn't get a pin. Then Miller tossed him out of the ring and wouldn't let him back in.

So Novak disqualified him and raised Nick's hand, much to the satisfaction of the crowd.

Miller's championship belt didn't go with the win since pro rassling rules prevent the loss of a title by disqualification.

The Judy Glover-Jessica Rogers team whipped Kathy Starr and Millie Stafford in the gals team affair, while the Mighty Atlas and Thor Hagan grappled to a draw in the opener.

backstretch for Thursday's racing. That part of the track is now protected only by a wooden wall.

The curves of the track and the grandstand area are bordered by concrete walls.

Sweeney added the track also will be refinished with chemicals to reduce dust, a hazard to the drivers, who often must drive with only the tops of helmets visible from other cars.

The obstruction which undoubtedly was most responsible for Chamberlain's death cannot be removed. That is the concrete exit to the tunnel which passes beneath the track in front of the grandstand.

Outside Obstruction

IMCA race officials commented that in many fatalities, some outside obstruction is involved, which nullifies such precautions as helmets and roll bars on the cars.

The tunnel exit is the only such obstruction near the track at the State Fair, and is located well away from curves where most accidents occur.

Drivers utilize the 2 days off from racing for work on their cars, several of which dropped out of competition Tuesday due to mechanical difficulties.

Pete Folse, Tampa, Fla. IMCA champion, will have to solve his problem to get back into the running Thursday. After winning the feature Sunday, Folse couldn't find his usual speed and was 7th Monday.

Buzz Barton took the victory in the feature.

If Folse fails to win Thursday, it will be the first time in 2 years he has not taken the majority of feature races at a big fair stop.

Motel Rendezvous Led To Extortion

... UMPIRE RUNGE TESTIFIES

Odenton, Md. (AP)—American League umpire Ed Runge told a magistrate's court Tuesday a rendezvous with 2 women at a suburban Washington motel led to an attempted extortion against him and fellow umpire Bill McKinley.

Runge testified about the extortion plot at a hearing before magistrate J. Nelson Clark in a small courtroom that was crowded for the brief session.

Clark ordered 2 men and one of the women held for Anne Arundel County grand jury action after Runge's testimony had been completed. McKinley did not testify.

Ordered held on charges of attempting to extort $2,000 from the umpires were Donald E. Anderson, 32, and Robert O. Waldron, 30, both of Washington.

Mary Jane Spencer, 21, a dancer from Washington, was bound over for grand jury action on a charge of aiding in the extortion plot. The 2nd woman, Helen I. Ela, 24, also of Washington, was held as a material witness for the state.

Runge, 42, from San Diego, Calif., was the only witness called by Asst. State's Atty. John A. Blondell to show evidence of the extortion plot.

Runge said a picture taken of the 2 umps and women in a motel room was used in the blackmail try.

He said they had been in the motel room "no time at all, 5 to 10 minutes," when 2 men he identified as Waldron and Anderson "broke in and took a picture" on Aug. 28.

The next day, he said he found an envelope with a picture and note under the door of his hotel room in Washington. The note read "Suggest you call this (telephone) number between 6 and 7."

Runge complied and agreed to meet "a man" after that day's game and Anderson kept the date.

"He mentioned the fact we were in a bad spot," Runge testified, "and that he had been told to ask us for $5,000, but that he had talked somebody into only $3,000."

The umpire said Anderson claimed the "picture would be sent to some scandal magazine, the American League president, and with the possibility of it being sent home."

Both Runge and McKinley are married, each with a son and daughter.

Bucs Edge Braves But Lose Shortstop

Pittsburgh (AP)—The League-leading Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Milwaukee Braves 5-3 Tuesday night on a come-from-behind, 8th inning rally, but the Pirates lost the services of their shortstop, Dick Groat, for about 4 weeks.

Groat suffered a fractured left wrist in the first inning when hit by a Lew Burdette pitch.

Groat, unaware his wrist was broken, continued playing until the 3rd when the swelling wrist forced him into the dugout. After the game, hospital X-rays showed the wrist was fractured.

Victory increased the Pirates' National League lead to 7 games and dropped the Braves into 3rd place, a half-game back of idle St. Louis.

Warren Spahn, Milwaukee's ace southpaw, came on in relief of Braves' starter Lou Burdette in the 8th to try to protect a 3-2 lead.

But Spahn gave up back-to-back doubles to Dick Stuart and Roberto Clemente that tied the score and a single to Smoky Burgess that gave the Pirates a 4-3 lead.

Davis Thanks Lord After 400 Triumph

... 'WASN'T WIND PUSHING'

By Eddy Gilmore

Rome, (AP)—Otis Davis of Los Angeles, Calif., Tuesday set an almost unbelievably fast world record for 400 meters-and then dropped his head in a long prayer of thanks.

"Something was pushing me out there," he told a teammate, "and it wasn't the wind. It must have been the Good Lord."

His superbly run race electrified the large audience in the huge Olympic stadium.

And he thrilled thousands by the way he hung on and refused to be beaten by Karl Kaufmann of Germany.

Both men finished in the world record time of 44.9 seconds. But the Alabama-born Davis was just an instant closer to the tape.

When he saw he'd won, Davis leaped high in the air.

"Do it again," asked a photographer.

"Man, you don't have to ask me," replied Davis, "I'm doing it naturally. I'm jumping for joy, man."

He was the only person in the stadium who couldn't believe he'd won.

When a voice over the loud speaker system confirmed his victory and his new world record, Davis became very quiet.

He eased himself on to a bench—and with thousands staring at him and cheering him—he lowered his head in his hands.

Photographers begged him to look up. But if he heard them, he didn't heed them.

Here was a man at his prayers. And talking only to God.

Over and over his lips repeated his prayer of thanks.

Then, after nearly two minutes—more than twice as long as it took him to win the race—he looked up and smiled.

Defending champion Neale Fraser of Australia was stymied only momentarily as he fell over the net in his match with Crawford Henry of Atlanta, Ga., in the National Tennis Championships. Fraser won easily, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1.

Drysdale Blanks San Francisco, 7-0

Los Angeles (AP)—Don Drysdale won his 7th straight at the Coliseum—the park he said he couldn't pitch in—by throwing a 6-hitter Tuesday as Los Angeles shut out San Francisco 7-0.

Norm Larker slammed a 2-run homer for the Dodgers, Gil Hodges hit a 3-run double and Drysdale himself drove in 2 runs with a triple.

Drysdale fanned 8 and ran his league leading strikeout total to 215 as he evened his record at 13-13. He hasn't lost a game at the Coliseum since June 9—which was about the time he declared the oddly shaped park almost impossible to work in. Since then he has pitched 4 shutouts here.

Larker hit his homer in the first. That was the only hit he got in 4 trips but his league leading batting average remained at .331.

The Dodgers got to loser Georges Maranda (1-4) for 5 runs in the 3rd but only 2 were earned. Willie Mays prolonged the rally with one of his infrequent errors, dropping Wally Moon's fly ball.

BROWNS CUT TRIO

Cleveland (AP)—The Cleveland Browns released 3 rookie players on waivers, bringing their squad down to 42, one under the required number at this date.

John Cash, Dan Callahan and Clyde Washington were cut loose.

Williams' Belt, Muffett's Pitching Drops Yanks, 7-1

New York (AP)—Ted Williams blaster a 2-run homer and Billy Muffett pitched a 3-hitter Tuesday as Boston's lowly Red Sox humbled the New York Yankees 7-1 to drop them a game and a half behind idle Baltimore's league-leading Orioes.

Muffett, brought up by the Red Sox in mid-season, lost his bid for a shutout in the 9th inning when Mickey Mantle walloped a home run deep into the center field bleachers.

The strong-armed righthander had permitted only 2 singles up to that point—to Bobby Richardson in the 3rd inning and to Cletis Boyer in the 5th. He walked 2 and struck out 3 as he posted his 5th victory against 2 defeats.

Williams' blast came in the 5th inning and climaxed a 3-run outburst against starter and loser Eli Grba. Muffett, who had 2 of Boston's 9 hits, helped the rally with a single after Lou Clinton had reached base on an error. A sacrifice fly by Pumpsie Green brought in the first run.

With 2 out and Carroll Hardy on first as a result of a walk, Williams drove a 2-0 pitch into the lower right field stands for his 26th homer of the season and the 518th of his major league career.

Mantle's 9th inning was his 32nd of the season, matching his total last year.

RICHARDS . . . Good Chance

Richards Says Baltimore 'Can Go All The Way Now'

Baltimore (AP) — Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles came right out and said it Tuesday—"We can go all the way now, for sure."

Although Richards kept saying early in the season that his Orioles could make a run for the American League pennant, he has been shying away from attempts tc pin him down lately.

But with a one-game lead over New York and less than a month to go, he said:

"I think we have a better chance than the Yankees, but we still have to play them 4 more games in New York (Sept. 16-17-18). That may tell the whole story."

Tall Paul gave these reasons for the better Oriole chance:

"We have 20 games left and our pitching favors us in the stretch drive. We have 9 off days which are going to help us.

"The Yankees, on the other hand, have 4 more games to play in the same number of days."

"I have to like our chances, but of course I have to hope we can get some hitting to go with the pitching. If we can get the hitters to give the pitchers a lift we are ready to take off for the pennant."

Two of the best Oriole hitters are question marks as they start a 7-game swing through the West tonight in Cleveland before the critical New York series.

Brooks Robinson, sensational fielding third baseman and leading hitter at .305, still is in the hospital with an infected throat. Gene Woodling, veteran left field batting .287, is hurting in the groin.

Dr. Erwin Mayer, Oriole physician, says of Robinson, "The way it looks now, he'll be able to fly to Cleveland."

Robinson has an infection in the stumps of tonsils removed 18 years ago. Dr. Mayer said an operation may be needed after the season, "but for the time being, he'll be all right."

Woodling pulled something when he stumbled running against the Yankees last Sunday. He has flown to Cleveland to see the doctor who operated on him last winter for hernia.

"I don't care if it's a pulled muscle," Woodling said, "but if the trouble's in the hernia area, it's something to worry about."

ITALY BOASTS TOP PROSPECT

Rome (AP)—Italy has come up with a bright heavyweight prospect in Olympic champion Francesco De Piccoli.

Hailed as the best of Italy's post-war amateur heavyweights, the 6-2, 211-pounder lived up to his notices in winning the Olympic gold medal. He is the 1st Italian ever to capture boxing's most prized amateur title.

The husky, 23-year-old soldier probably will turn pro in a few months under the management of Steve Klaus, a New Yorker now living in Italy. Klaus formerly coached Italy's Olympic boxing teams. He now manages Duilio Loi, the world junior welterweight champion, and other Italian fighters.

ASHLAND GIRL TO GET HONOR

Karen Rogers of Ashland will be honored at The Arena roller skating rink tonight at a party at the same time her "life" is being presented on Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life" television program.

Miss Rogers

The program is a rerun from a show originally telecast in January.

Miss Rogers, 17, suffered an attack of polio in her youth and credits roller skating during the past 6 years with aiding her recovery.

Currently Teen Chairman of the March of Dimes in Nebraska, she will be presented with gifts at The Arena tonight.

What's that 3rd pump doing at Conoco?

Answer: to provide you with the right gasoline power at the right price for your car! Which Conoco grade should you use? How can you tell? Conoco answers these and other 3-grade questions below.

Q. Why is Conoco offering a choice of 3 grades of gasoline?
A. To meet the power needs of today's wide range of cars. Only with 3 grades can you be sure of no wasted octane, no wasted money... paying only for power your car needs.

Q. How can I tell which Conoco grade is for me?
A. Listen to your car! Start with Premium. If it doesn't knock, you may be able to use Regular. If it does knock on Premium, step up to Super Premium.

Q. What is this new Super Premium gasoline, anyway?
A. It's Conoco's highest octane gasoline (101 plus!), especially made for today's top-horsepower, top-compression cars.

Q. My car works fine on Premium. Why use Super Premium?
A. Don't! If your engine doesn't knock on Premium, save your money! Fact is, Conoco's new Premium actually saves you money!

Now! Pick your power—and save—with 3 great grades of Conoco Gasoline. Conoco Super Premium with TCP* plus combines 101 plus octane with TCP plus power-booster. Conoco Premium with TCP plus saves you money compared with other premiums. Conoco Regular offers smooth performance, generous mileage, for all cars designed to run on regular.

Q. Which of Conoco's gasolines have TCP plus?
A. Both Conoco Super Premium and Conoco Premium. We don't put it in Conoco Regular, because low-compression cars don't really need TCP plus for efficient operation.

Q. Just what is TCP?
A. Tri-Cresyl-Phosphate . . . used to neutralize fouling spark plug deposits, improve spark plug life, reduce preignition.

Q. What's the plus in TCP plus stand for?
A. For Conoco 405†—a specially developed additive that oil-plates rings, valves and cylinders with a tough shield of lubricant.

Q. My car used to run fine on Regular, but now needs Premium. Why?
A. As cars get older, carbon deposits build up. This increases your engine's compression ratio and the need for a higher-octane fuel.

Q. Will high-octane gasolines such as Super Premium and Premium burn out my valves quicker?
A. Just the opposite! A knock-free engine actually runs cooler!

Q. Are all Conoco stations in my neighborhood featuring 3 grades of gasoline?
A. Not just yet. All 3 grades are available only at Conoco Stations displaying this sign.

Start to save today... the 3-grade way...

Council Plans Truck Weight Control Ordinance Patterned After State's

By Virgil Falloon

A Lincoln truck weight control ordinance, identical with the limitations imposed by state law on truck weight and size, was introduced Tuesday by the City Council.

The proposed measure was patterned after state limits at the suggestion of Mayor Pat Boyles rather than the stricter limitations adopted by Omaha.

Lincoln currently has no limitations and the state does not enforce its provisions within the municipal jurisdiction, according to city officials.

During the recent budget session, the council called for a report by Jan. 1 recommending enforcement procedures within the present manpower of the police department.

At the suggestion of City Atty. Ralph Nelson, the council will give the measure 2nd and 3rd reading next Monday with a council vote expected.

To Meet Deadline

Nelson suggested the speed-up so that the Sept. 15 deadline for including the measure (if adopted) in the recodification of the Municipal Code could be met.

The ordinance, generally providing a weight limit of 18,000 pounds on axle and scaled to truck size, is the same as the state's code.

City penalties would be a $50 fine for weight less than 10% over maximum and $100 for more than 10% over maximum. For overweight on license plates, the fine would be $10 to $100. For refusal or failure to submit to city weighing, the penalty would be up to $100 fine and/or 60 days in jail.

A companion measure, also introduced, would permit overweight and oversize trucks on city streets under conditions prescribed by special permit if deemed necessary to national defense or the public welfare.

The director of public works would be charged with issuing the permit, which would automatically terminate if violated. Permit fee would be $10.

Holds 'Space' Action

In other action, the council held up until next Monday a vote on an ordinance that would enable the council to permit use of air space above public streets and sidewalks by special permit.

The city code presently limits such use to signs and marquees and an amendment would be needed to permit other structures.

Presently before the council is the Peterson Building Corporation's request for permission to construct an overnanging ramp on its proposed parking garage at 12th and P.

Council action on the matter has been deferred until a full council can be present. The council meeting Tuesday did not begin until 3:30 p.m. when a 4-member quorum could be present.

Present were Acting Mayor C W. D. Kinsey and Councilmen Hugh Thorne, Del Tyrrell and Kenneth Lewis.

Absent were Mayor Boyles, Councilwoman Helen Boosalis and Councilman Al DuTeau.

Other council action on ordinances:

Introduced, 1st Reading

—paving district for Newton from 58th to 59th.

—alley paving district for alley in Floral Park between G and 18th.

—sidewalk district 3 for north side of Randolph from 44th to 56th and south side of Randolph from 40th to 56th.

—sewer district for Leighton from 59th to 60th.

—ordinance relating to truck weight limitations.

—ordinance permitting oversize and overweight trucks by special permit from the department of public works.

Passed, 3rd Reading

—extending the city's corporate limits to include a small tract and several lots in the vicinity of 75th and Holdrege and 77th and Vine.

—ordinance relating to excavations in streets and alleys and increasing permit fees to $10 and $5.

Deferred to Sept. 19

—sidewalk district 2 for the west side of 40th from Vine to Dudley.

Crooner Boone Causes Big Hub-Bub As He Warms Up For State Fairgoers

By Gene Budig

Pat Boone, the guy who croons while millions swoon, caused a major commotion at the Nebraska State Fair.

A roar of "ohs!" and "ahs!" greeted the All-American looking singer as he entered Fair Board Secretary Ed Schultz's office for a press conference.

Boone, along with recording artist Anita Bryant, will headline grandstand shows Wednesday and Thursday nights at 7:45 p.m.

Clad in a white silk jacket, red shirt, gray slacks and white leather shoes, Boone lived up to pre-billings as an "eye catcher."

Schultz is hoping the Boone charm will result in box office sell-outs.

"It's nice to be here, but I've been sneezing all day." Boone said, adding jokingly that he hoped that he wasn't allergic to livestock.

"Time will tell," he laughed.

This is Boone's second trip to Nebraska.

After a brief huddle with an associate, he nodded: "I was in Omaha a couple years ago."

No Midway Tour

The teenage idol said that he had hopes of touring the midway and exhibits, but . . .

"This didn't work out too well; several weeks ago in Milwaukee at a fair. I started to tour the grounds and it ended up in a free-for-all," he recalled.

Shedding his jacket, Boone commented that he thought that he was getting old.

"At 26, I'm getting to be an old-timer in the record business with youngsters like Fabian, Anka and Ricky Nelson around," he said.

"Elvis (Presley) and I are getting to be the old-timers," he kidded.

Several times during the interview, Boone was interrupted by youthful admirers rapping on the windows.

"Being in the public eye is sometimes depressing," the seller of 25 million records said, "but without this attention, it would be much more depressing."

On hand to give Boone the official "Welcome to Lincoln" was Judy Howard, Miss Lincoln.

Ex-Senator Victor In House Primary

Reno, ev. (AP) — Former Sen. George (Molly) Malone claimed an easy victory Tuesday night in a 4-way race for the Republican nomination to Nevada's lone seat in the House of Representatives.

With 222 precincts out of 451, Malone, a 70-year-old engineer, had 8,856 to 4,770 for Bill Tyson, a millionaire dairyman. Dick Wiseman of Reno ranked third with 3,496 and George Shaner of Las Vegas trailed with 1,589.

E. T. Sickel, Lincoln Drug Official, Dies

Edward T. Sickel, 72, of 2930 Van Dorn, chairman of the board of Lincoln Drug Company, died Tuesday.

Funeral services for Mr. Sickel will be held Thursday at 11 a.m. at the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, the Rev. William Cross officiating.

Born in Rockport, Mo., Mr. Sickel moved to Lincoln in 1928 at which time he became associated with the Lincoln Drug Company.

He became vice-president and general manager of the firm in 1930, and chairman of the board of directors in 1955.

He also served as a member of the board of control of the National Wholesale Druggists Association, and as president of the Missouri Valley Drug Club.

Mr. Sickel served actively in many civic organizations including the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

He was also a member of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, Elks, Masonic Lodge; Scottish Rite, Shrine, Lincoln Country Club, and Lincoln University Club.

His wife preceded him in death last November, and he is survived by a son, Edward T. Sickel Jr. of Saratoga, Calif., and 2 grandchildren.

Contract Let For Surfacing

An $8,521 contract for asphalt surfacing of the Pioneers Municipal Golf Course parking lots was okayed Tuesday by the City Council.

City officials said the cost will be split by the park department and the municipal golf fund. Dobson Bros. Construction Co. was the low bidder.

Chambers Construction Co. was awarded a $2,048 contract for construction of a new drainage outlet for the University Place swimming pool. Cost will come from non-tax funds.

Other contracts:

—Dobson Bros., $10,656, for Paving District 1670 for Franklin from Normal to Antelope Parkway Addition and 38th from Franklin to Antelope Parkway Addition.

—Pioneer Paving Co., $31,140.20, for Paving District 1688 for Judson from 50th to 54th and 52nd from Gladstone to Knox.

—Dobson Bros., $5,569.06 for Paving District 1696 for Orchard from 45th to 46th.

—Dobson Bros., $1,220.96 for Water District 525 and $769.95 for Sewer District 687 both being for 11th from Vale to 246 feet north of Vale.

Reformatory Hunt Still On For Escapees

Two young Reformatory inmates, who escaped over a fence at the Nebraska institution Monday night, were still being sought Tuesday.

Officials identified the pair as William T. Myers, 21, of Latrobe, Pa., and David Kunze, 17, of Valley City, N.D.

Both inmates were described by Reformatory officials as near model prisoners up until the time of the escape. They are not considered dangerous.

The pair was being transported from the kitchen to the cell house Monday night when they reportedly ran from their guards.

They quickly scaled a small electronic warning fence (which flashes an alarm when any bulk bigger then bird-size approaches) and ran to the outer fence.

A guard was able to fire one shot at the pair, but missed, as they were climbing the 10-foot wire fence with 6 strands of barbed wire strung V-shaped on top.

Myers was committed to the institution in January from Chase County for forgery. He was serving a one year to 18 months sentence.

Kunze was committed to the Reformatory in July from Scotts Bluff County for breaking and entering. He was serving an 18 months to 3 year sentence.

ROADBLOCK

London (UPII) — Arthur C. Cook, a foreign correspondent for the London Daily Mail, was fined $8.40 in absentia for a "motor vehicle obstruction." Cook, in a letter to the court, apologized for his two previous non-appearances on the summons. He explained that his movements were extremely uncertain and "to even post this letter I had to cross the river Congo."

STOCKS TAKE SHARP DROP

New York (AP) — The stock market began its post-Labor Day career Tuesday with a sharp loss. Trading was dull.

The small volume of 2.58 million shares compared with 2.68 million Friday was one of the few encouraging aspects of the decline, according to analysts. They recalled similar sessions immediately following the Labor Day milestone when selling was heavy.

An estimated $1,900 million was clipped from quoted values of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exihange, based on the fall in the Associated Press average.

The decline was a broad one, taking in autos, steels, rails, oils, coppers, aircrafts, electronics, chemicals, drugs and electrical equipments.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 4.37 to 620.85.

The AP 60-stock average fell 1.40 to 219.20 with the industrials down 2.20, the rails down 1.20 and the utilities down .20.

American Stock Exchange prices also headed lower. Volume fell off to 1.12 million shares from 1.37 million on Friday.

Corporate bonds and U.S. government bonds were mixed. Trading was moderate.

Bond volume rose to $4.06 million par value from $3.36 million Friday, which was the lowest for a non-holiday session since September 1957.

SOYBEANS ADVANCE

Chicago (AP) — Soybean futures reacted strongly Tuesday to reports that the crop had begun to deteriorate in some areas because of dry weather.

All contracts advanced about 1½ cents a bushel while the grains generally were steady to easier. July wheat and September rye were exceptions. They posted moderate to good gains.

Wheat was unchanged to 1¼ cents a bushel higher at the close with all deliveries except July within small fractions of the previous finish, September $1.85¾; corn unchanged to ⅜ lower, September $1.13¼-¼; oats ¼-⅜ lower, September 64⅜; rye ½ higher to ⅛ lower, September $1.13¼; soybeans 1⅜-1⅝ higher, September $2.15⅞-¾.

Depreciation Allowance Real, Legitimate Factor

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

A nipple and bar, made of cast iron, suddenly sprang a leak in my household boiler, and the furnace room was flooded with steaming hot water.

Rukeyser

In the summer the heating system is employed to circulate hot water.

I mention the episode because it dramatizes the reality of depreciation, which is the process of wearing out of physical facilities.

Where property is employed in whole or in part for business purposes, the federal and state tax statutes recognize the reality of depreciation as a legitimate cost, which is deductible from net taxable income.

But confusion as to this basic accounting concept is currently being spread in the presdential campaign by those who talk loosely about closing tax "loopholes" and by slick financiers in real estate financing.

Some of the syndicators and others, in their promotional effort, talk as though depreciation is a mere device for achieving retention of tax-free income.

One chain hotel operator, in speaking of his company's big cash flow, declares: "Cash flow we define as net operating earnings with depreciation reserves added back." He goes on to point out: "The ability to channel 17 millions of tax-free depreciation dollars into profitable improvements can, we estimate, provide the extra 'cash flow' needed to add perhaps twenty-five millions to our net asset value.

"In other words, the reinvestment of these 'cash flow' dollars not only offsets actual depreciation that comes from aging, obsolescence, etc., but in fact it accounts, to a large extent, for the tendency of our hotels to increase in value each year."

This executive added to depreciation dollars the total net earnings. In general, depreciation is a device for recording in costs the wasting of old assets from wear and tear and obsolescence. Theoretically, no gain should be involved in this type of bookkeeping. But in this particular company there may be special factors in that the corporation acquired old structures at bargain prices far below current inflated reproduction costs, and doubtless set up a basis for depreciation based on new appraisals rather than on original cost.

But the reference to the leak in the boiler in my home is intended to reaffirm the truism that physical things do deteriorate and wear out.

If a household or a business manages its property properly, it accumulates reserves for depreciation in a form which will be available when, as and if replacement of assets is necessary.

The foregoing rule is honored more in the breach than in the observance.

Even corporations use depreciation funds for new capital expenditures and, unless they watch the liquidity, or cash availability, factor, they are likely to find themselves pinched for cash needed for capital asset replacement. They often hope something will turn up, such as windfall profits or great borrowing capacity.

The late Orlando F. Weber, builder of the Allied Chemical Corporation, who made monumental contributions to contemporary accounting concepts, stressed that depreciation is a reality, not a figment of the imagination of the bookkeepers and the tax avoiders. In his own company, he stressed the desirability of keeping depreciation reserves in liquid form. In addition to substantial cash balances, he invested reserves in highly marketable shares of major industrial companies.

Unless the public learns that depreciation allowances are based on reality, not on phony theories, the whole competitive position of the United States could be adversely affected by legislating misconceptions into tax laws.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.

Radiation Exposure Limits Lowered

...For Atomic Plant Workers And The General Public

Washington (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission Tuesday announced sharply lowered radiation exposure limits for workers in atomic industry plants.

Limits were also reduced for members of the general public who might be exposed to radioactive materials released from the plants.

The general effect of the new regulations — constituting the first such change since January, 1957—will be to limit the lifetime accumulated dose of radiation workers to one-third the limits permitted heretofore.

As for the general public, the new rules "are designed to make it unlikely that individuals in unrestricted areas (beyond the confines of atomic plants) receive exposure in excess of 10% of the limits established for radiation workers."

Past regulations have aimed at restricting general public exposure to 10% of that permitted as a maximum for radiation workers. So, with the new reduction for the A-workers, the public limits are correspondingly reduced.

The commission said the new regulations, effective next Jan. 1, would bring the AEC's standards "into accord with the current recommendations of the National Committee on Radiation Protection and Measurements."

The committee is a quasi-official group of radiation specialists who work for government agencies, including the AEC, or for private institutions.

The AEC noted that the committee had "pointed out that the lowering of the limits should not be interpreted as indicating that exposures at levels currently permitted by the regulations have caused damage."

The committee added that "changes, rather, were based on a desire to bring radiation standards into accord with new trends of scientific opinion and to reflect awareness of the probability of a large future increase in radiation uses."

The AEC said the new standards, like the higher ones of the past, will comprise "the basic AEC document for radiation safety in AEC-licensed operations."

"Among other things," the announcement said," they prescribe the limitations which govern exposure of personnel within licensed atomic installations and industries to both radiation and concentrations of radioactive material; concentrations of radioactive material which may be discharged into air or water; disposal of radioactive wastes, and limits on levels of radiation outside atomic installations and industries."

Holiday Cost U.S. 415 Lives

By The Associated Pres

Observance of the 3-day Labor Day holiday cost the nation a total of 415 lives in traffic accidents.

The final count of traffic fatalities during the 78-hour week-end showed there were fewer deaths on streets and highways this year than during any Labor Day week-end since 1954.

The number of traffic deaths was considerably lower than the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate of 460 and the record Labor Day toll of 461 set in 1951.

An Associated Press count of accidental deaths attributed to the holiday observance—between 6 p.m. Friday (local time) and midnight Monday—included these in addition to traffic: 28 in boating accidents, 83 by drowning, and 90 in miscellaneous mishaps for an over-all total of 616.

The lower number of traffic deaths occurred although there were an estimated 2½ million more automobiles on the road this year and 20 million more than in 1951 when the record number of Labor Day holiday traffic deaths was counted.

Expensive Ale

Saltash, England (AP) — Ale's on sale at Harry Eggins' butcher shop at something like $56 a mouthful. One of the 3 bottles offered was brewed by the late King Edward VII on a visit to a brewery in 1902. the other two were the work of his grandson, Ex-King Edward VIII, now the Duke of Windsor. The last time such royal brew was sold it rasied 101 pounds ($282) per bottle. Harry is selling it to raise funds for his local foxhunt.

Scholarship Program Planned For Teachers

...TO KEEP THEM IN NEBRASKA

The State Board of Education Tuesday voted to have State Commissioner of Education Freeman Decker prepare a draft of a scholarship program for prospective school teachers—designed to keep them in Nebraska after completing college.

The tentative draft will be discussed by the board before the next session of the Legislature.

As proposed Tuesday by Decker, the program would be similar to the teachers' scholarship program used by the State of Virginia. It would provide each prospective teacher with $350 a year for his college education, with proportionately smaller amounts for summer school.

Under the plan, the teacher must remain in the state and hold a public teaching job for each year of education thus subsidized, otherwise he must repay the money, at 3% interest.

Plays Big Role

Virginia reports that its program, begun in 1947, has "played a major role in encouraging capable students to enter the teaching profession in the state and assisting those already teaching to qualify in subject areas where shortages exist."

In other action, Board Chairman Frank Landis of Lincoln set up a 3-member committee to work with Decker to draw up a scale of salary increases for Department of Education personnel with Doctors' degrees.

There are presently 6 members of the staff with Ph.d degrees.

Dr. Decker told the board he recently lost two staff members with doctorates whom he cannot replace, and that another is considering employment with the federal government at a salary nearly half again as much as that he is now receiving.

The board also amended the state plan for practical nursing training to include dental assistants, and in the vocational homemaking program reduced the time of class periods from 55 to 50 minutes in junior high schools.

8 Workshops Will Precede TB Seal Sale

Donald E. Prather of Kearney, president of the Nebraska Tuberculosis Assn., said that the district meetings held preparatory to the Christmas seal campaign will begin Sept. 13 in Norfolk. Seven other cities will also be visited.

Christmas seal chairmen from every county in the state will take part in these 8 health workshops. Others that will follow will be held in O'Neill on Sept. 14, Scottsbluff on Sept. 16, North Platte on Sept. 19, Holdrege on Sept. 20, Grand Island on Sept. 21, Fremont on Sept. 23 and Lincoln on Sept. 27.

These one-day meetings lay the foundation for the annual Christmas seal campaign which begins this year on Nov. 14. The purpose of the meetings is to bring the workers up to date on the latest methods of conduting their campaign. There will be discussion of two important studies that have been made in Nebraska, one for the Nebraska Tuberculosis Assn., at the request of its board of directors, and the other on public health needs at the request of the Nebraska State Board of Health and the State Department of Health.

EXTRA PAY FOR ENCYCLOPEDIAS

Take a long, hard look at "free" encyclopedia offers.

Every year thousands of Americans contact BBBs on encyclopedia deals. The prospective buyer, the deal goes, was "specially selected" for an unusual offer. If he will buy, at "regular prices, such side features as reference books, year books, children's books, dictionaries or research services, the encyclopedias will be given free. Sometimes "special" prices are offered for testimonial letters supposedly for use as advertising.

The prices on side features have been found sufficiently high to cover encyclopedias, also.
